LINDBERGHS OFF I 2ND AIR HONEYMC

London, Feb. 1 (INS)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh left England today on a flying trip to Egypt, with a first stop at Cairo.

The noted American flying couple took off from Lympne airdrome with a large quantity of luggage, indicating a possibly extensive tour.

The two were on their "second honeymoon," it was learned from friends, and they planned to visit other northern African countries besides Egypt.

The Lindberghs told their friends they both had been planning the trip for weeks, wanting "a little pleasure trip together in the sunshine." They expect to be away from England for several weeks.

The Lindberghs' " moon" trip was their Orient from the Unit way of Alaska, several years ago.

Their infant son, Jon, was left behind in care of a governess at the Lindbergh home in Kent. Colonel Lindbergh, it was learned, recently told friends he felt their child was perfectly safe there, and that he had confidence in the security of the English countryside.

Mrs. Lindbergh, it was learned, was reluctant to leave her baby, but their plane was not large enough to carry the three of them, even if she had wanted to take the child.

Tuesday will be Colonel Lindbergh's 35th birthday.

General Motors in its new court action asks that the sitdowners be removed from its two Fisher Body plants, and also requests an injunction against picketing. By holding these two plants the UAW has succeeded in virtually halting the corporation's entire production.

After Sheriff Thomas Wolcott announced he would "see that the plants were cleared if the court ordered it," reports came that several thousand union members would be assigned to the plants as shock troops to resist eviction.

Vatican City, Feb. 1 (AP)—Statistics published in the Vatican newspaper, Osservatore Romano, and attributed to the Spanish College in Rome asserted today between 40 and 50 per cent of the Spanish priesthood (estimated at more than 15,000) and 11 bishops have been killed "by Reds" in the civil war.

The article said:

"Before the war the Spanish clergy was composed of 60 bishops, 33,500 priests and 20,640 members of religious orders."

BASED ON TESTIMONY

The casualty estimates, it added were based on 200 letters from bishops and priests and on the testimony of 188 priests and bishops who fled Spain to come back to Rome.

"This testimony indicates for all Spain that 40 to 50 per cent of the priests and 11 bishops have been assassinated by the Reds," the college stated.

Following are the indictment charges against those arraigned today in the Brookline vice and graft investigation:

Sergeant Henry H. McNeill, head of the police vice squad: Bribery and accessory after the fact to bribery; eight indictments and eight counts.

James Donovan, Brookline patrolman: Bribery and extortion; six indictments and six counts.

Thomas G. Grennon, Brookline patrolman: Bribery, extortion and conspiracy to extort.

Frank L. Cilley, automobile salesman: Conspiracy to extort; one indictment, one count.

Dr. Harry Ostrer: Conspiracy to extort; two indictments, two counts.

Although not arraigned, it was disclosed that Alfred Scheinfain had been indicted on two counts of conspiracy to extort.

Although Scheinfain's indictment did not enter directly into the proceedings, wording of the other indictments revealed that the convicted white slaver was also under charges in the Brookline probe.

Less than two hours following the arraignments, Police Chief H. Allen Rutherford announced "temporary suspension" of Sergent McNeill and Patrolmen Donovan and Grennon.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY

McNeill pleaded not guilty on six indictments charging bribery and accessory after the fact to bribery. He pleaded not guilty also to two indictment charges of conspiring with Dr. Ostrer to extort.

Dr. Ostrer pleaded not guilty to two charges of conspiracy, in which he was named with McNeill.

Donovan pleaded not guilty to one indictment charge of conspiracy to extort. Without counsel, the policeman waived examination.

Cilley, [illegible]-year-old salesman of Brookline and Allston, who had spent the night in jail, lacking bail, pleaded not guilty to two charges of conspiracy to extort.

Patrolman Grennon was named in two indictments, one with his fellow officer, Donovan, and one alone. Both indictments charged bribery, extortion and conspiracy to extort. He pleaded not guilty and

ONLY 3-FOOT SUPERSTRUCTURE HOLDS BACK FLOOD

CAIRO'S 4500 DEFENDERS AWAITING 'ZERO HOUR'

structure crowning the main barrier.

With the Ohio at the all-time record height of 59.50 feet, six inches from the top of the concrete bulkhead, only a mud-boxed wall a foot and a half wide remained to stave off the flood.

ORDERED TO LEAVE

All women and children were ordered to leave the city at once. It was the second evacuation. Some had drifted back, cheered by reports that no immediate danger impended.

Mounting waters warned of an early crisis. Throughout the freezing night, in the glare of floodlights, levee sentinels patrolled the walls looking for weak spots or leaks.

Below, inside the sunken city, relief crews slept to conserve their strength for the heralded climax—almost any hour now.

A single exit, at the north end of the V-shaped city, was left open to the 4500 defenders in the event flight becomes necessary.

Boats stood by, ready to evacuate several hundred of the "last ditch" fighters, but the main route of escape would be through the heavy steel gate at the northern embankment.

A major crevasse in the Ohio-side wall, it was said, would transform the still dry city into a watery graveyard 20 feet deep—within a few minutes.

Falling steadily in the north, the 60-billion tons of Ohio river flood waters poured into the Mississippi river at a rate of nearly 3,000,000 cubic feet per second.

River gauges below Cairo registered the ponderous influx with sharp rises.

The reading at Memphis, recorded by the U. S. Weather Bureau, was 1.6 feet lower than reported by the U. S. engineers' gauge. The latter reading was 1.2 feet above the record high-water mark of 1913.

On the Ohio river above Cairo, which sits on a slender neck of land where the Ohio dumps its watery load into the Mississippi, Paducah, Ky., temporarily became a ghost town. Complete evacuation was ordered as a health measure.

While Louisville, Cincinnati and other Ohio river towns, battered and bruised by their worst flood, cheerfully turned to rehabilitation efforts, man-made dikes on the long river front from 50 miles below Cairo to the gulf held the flood waters of the Mississippi.

Army engineers reiterated their predictions the levees would meet the test when the crest of the flood passes down the Mississippi late this week.

ORDERED TO FLEE

"If vigilance, supplies and man power can do it, the levee line will be held at all costs," said Lieut. Col. Eugene Reybold who is directing the vigil of 115,000 men along the Mississippi's billion dollar dike system."

Above Cairo, residents of Tamms began evacuating as the river gradually rose in its streets. The only dry spot in Harrisburg, city of 12,000 northeast of Cairo, was the business section. Harrisburg is 22 miles away from the river's normal course.

Flood fighters in the Cairo sector had a busy night plugging minor breaks. The slough landing neck dike gave way at Bessie, 10 miles north of Tiptonville, but engineers said it would not endanger the Tennessee city. The flood waters cut across the one and a half-mile neck of the Horseshoe Bend to rejoin the Mississippi and ease the strain at New Madrid, O., at the head of the bend.

Tragedy apparently was averted when a large barge returning a large number of WPA rescue workers to their base at New Madrid capsized Saturday night. Army officers said their check indicated that only one man may have drowned.

Biggest Washday in History Dawns on Flood Area

International News Photograph Service

A blanket of mud covers the streets of Covington, Ky. Here part of an army of workers start the biggest clean-up job in history as the raging Ohio slowly subsides. Months will elapse before all flood traces can be eradicated.

CAIRO'S FLOOD PERIL GROWS

Cairo, Ill., Feb. 1 (AP)—The brimming Ohio River, sloshing near the rim of the levee system here, advanced today on Cairo's last line of flood defense—an 18-inch-thick wall of boards and earth.

The wall, three feet high, is a hurriedly-built superstructure crowning the 60-foot concrete barrier that saved the city from past floods. A wooden framework, reinforced with braces, was filled with sacks tamped full of dirt.

In the glare of floodlights, levee defenders patrolled their ground throughout the freezing night, looking for weak spots as the water inched toward the 59.50 stage.

CREST YET TO COME

For two hours early today the river level remained stationary, at 59.60 feet. Army engineers were unable to explain it, but said they were confident the crest had not arrived. They also said it could not be attributed to the levee break at Bessie, Tenn., downstream on the Mississippi.

Waves already have washed over the lowest parts of the huge sea wall proper and against the emergency bulkhead, the current swinging around a curve with added force.

Like soldiers in readiness for an "over the top" command, most levee crews slept to conserve their strength for any crisis—to be signalled by a blare of sirens and whistles.

All women and children have been ordered out again—some drifted back after the first evacuation—and the second exodus was under way. The only women allowed to remain are those helping stave off the flood. They are Red Cross workers, communications operators and commissary aids.

About 4200 men are at hand to plug the dikes if they weaken. Never before has such manpower been mustered here to hold the river, citizens said, but never before has the Ohio risen so high.

Rains Add to Fears As 1913 Record Falls

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 1 (US)—Heavy rains today threatened to increase the flood disaster in the fearfully waiting Mississippi Valley.

With 120,000 men working day and night battling to keep the flood waters from bursting through at scores of danger spots, the rains increased the danger of leaks and crevasses along many miles of earthen bulwarks.

The levee defenses were softened and weakened.

The situation was increasingly critical along the main levee system protecting the vast farm area and 45 river towns from Cairo, Ill., to Memphis.

Even Memphis, which boasts the title of "flood oasis" because of its height above the Mississippi, was preparing to evacuate 20,000 of its residents in the lowland sections as the river soared beyond its previous high record of 1913.

It reached a height of more than 45 feet and is destined to rise at least eight feet more, according to army engineers.

FIRE THREATENS PADUCAH

Adding to the flood horrors in the stricken region, fire threatened the destruction of the business section of Paducah, Ky., already under 10 to 15 feet of water.

Hampered by the high water, rain and choked-up hydrants, the firemen fought the blaze for hours before getting it under control. It originated in a restaurant and threatened to sweep through the district. Thousands of refugees poured into Memphis and were herded to various places to shelter, many of them to be sent farther or to other cities.

Many of the flood victims were from upriver Tennessee points. Previously they had been almost exclusively from northeastern Arkansas and southeastern Missouri.

Schools were converted into hospitals and living quarters for the army of homeless lowland farmers, many of them ragged and impoverished. No count of the dead between Memphis and Cairo has been made. George Meyar, Red Cross director here, said:

"The dead can be estimated certainly in the hundreds when deaths from exposure are considered."

Quarantined Louisville Starts Rehabilitation

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 1 (INS)—Plunging into the task of rehabilitation after its worst flood, Louisville today isolated itself by enforcing a strict quarantine.

State police and federal troops stood guard at all roads and allowed no one to enter except those with necessary supplies.

The quarantine was laid down by State Health Commissioner Dr. A. T. McCormick who said:

"We want to segregate this city from the rest of the world so that if an epidemic breaks out in this area it will not spread to other portions of the state and surrounding states."

Louisville's flood deaths total 200, according to official figures. Property damage is in excess of $100,000,000.

A district approximately 10 miles square in Louisville's flooded West End residential section was placed under absolute quarantine at sunrise today.

Aid Refugees

Red Cross contributions to aid flood sufferers were made by American tourists and residents of Bermuda, it was revealed today upon arrival of the Canadian Steamships liner Lady Hawkins from Bermuda and the West Indies.

FLOOD BOARD MAPS RELIEF

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt's flood inspection committee arrived in Memphis by train today and immediately went into conference with relief executives of Tennessee, Arkansas and Missouri.

Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress administrator and chairman of the committee, said the party would study the flooded area from here to Cincinnati and then report to President Roosevelt.

35 ON FREIGHTER BATTLE DEATH IN RAGING SEA

Thirty-five men of the American freighter Meanticut fought for their lives and their ship today as water mounted higher in the flooded holds of the sinking craft, 2200 miles due east of Boston.

Beside the Meanticut, in a raging gale, stood the Dutch steamer Edam, which had fought her way through the storm in answer to the freighter's SOS.

"Won't try to take off crew before daylight unless necessary," was the last word flashed from the Edam.

RESCUE OR DISASTER

Since that last message, the Atlantic has been silent. Radio operators still hung over their keys to hear what had transpired—a rescue or disaster.

Maritime experts pointed out that so long as the Meanticut would float the Edam would hardly attempt the perilous feat of transferring her imperiled crew in a storm.

The crippled freighter had lost two of her lifeboats, and the only remaining two were reported in poor condition.

The Meanticut's position was given as about 100 miles north of the Azores Islands on a direct line between this port and Cape Finisterre, Spain.

SMASHED BY SEAS

Only fragmentary messages were received to tell of her plight, but it was evident that she had been smashed by tremendous seas in the storm that swept that section of the Atlantic all day yesterday and during the night.

Three of her holds were filled with water, according to some of the radio flashes. One said:

"Water between decks."

Another said:

"Fear bulkheads giving way."

Those six words, in those two fragments of messages, told of her plight as well as 10 times those words would, so marine experts said.

If the bulkhead go, the Meanticut must sink.

First word of the plight of the hapless freighter came from the radio of the American S.S. Flourspar.

She had picked up the Meanticut's S.O.S., but was 450 miles from the position reported, so she relayed the distress call to the powerful Radio Marine Corporation station at Chatham, Cape Cod.

At the same time, the Flourspar reported the Norwegian steamer Abu and the American freighter Topa Topa about 20 miles from the Meanticut.

Chatham wasted no time. Over the airwaves she spread the Fluorspar's message, giving the Meanticut's position and urging all craft to tune in on 600 meters, the wave length on which the Meanticut's feeble calls for help were dispatched.

CLOSEST TO SHIP

By this time, the American freighter Waukegan, the Italian luxury liner Rex and the American S. S. Manhattan had all responded to the distress signals.

Of these three craft, the Waukegan was closest to the Meanticut, but still too far to reach for hours—hours in which all of the sinking freighter's crew might have perished.

Suddenly came word that the Norwegian Edam was in the life-and-death race. She radioed Chatham:

"Believe will reach Meanticut at 9 p. m."

That meant she would be at least two hours ahead of any other craft, according to estimates.

Meanwhile, the Edam had been able to put on unexpected speed. She flashed word that she would make the Meanticut by 7 o'clock instead of 9.

Then came the last word from the Edam, that she had reached the sinking ship. After that silence.

Log on Ship's Peril

Here is the log of the Radio Marine Corporation at Chatham from the hour the first message was received, telling of the S. S. Meanticut's peril to the last flash during the night when the S. S. Edam reported "standing by" the distressed ship.

"C I Q S (call letters of the S.S. Fluorspar) S. S. Meanticut in distress, 44:56 north; 31:40 west. If you hear anyone near him please ask them to listen 600 meters.

(This wave length is exclusively reserved for distress messages. Every ship at sea and radio station on land is required to tune in on this wave for three minutes out of every hour.)

"Fluorspar about 450 miles from Meanticut. Norwegian S. S. Abu and American freighter Topa Topa about 200 (miles from Meanticut). Meanticut calling all ships in vicinity. SOS sent at 10:55 a. m. (Sunday).

"No details except No. 1 hold full of water. Needs immediate assistance.

(Signed) FLUORSPAR."

RELAYED TO SHIPS

Chatham relayed to all ships in vicinity of Meanticut details of this message. At 11:44 a. m. the Fluorspar radioed again:

"Topa Topa and American freighter Waukegan are going to search for Meanticut. They can't reach her until about 3 a. m. Monday. Meanticut taking water in Nos. 1 and 2 holds fast."

In response to Chatham's broadcast, the Italian luxury liner Rex radioed:

"Rex reports position at noon 37:14 north; 22:41 west. Speed 25 knots. Very rough sea. Send more Meanticut."

All information available on the Meanticut was forwarded again. At 12:24 p. m. the following was intercepted:

"S. S. Edam at 11:30 a. m. Position 44:24 north; 34:03 west. Ninety miles from Meanticut. Believe will reach her at 9 p. m."

About the same time this message was picked up from the English freighter Mangalore:

"Mangalore 45:14 north; 35:25 west."

At 2 p. m., the Mangalore wirelessed again:

"Mangalore 145 miles from Meanticut. Reach her at 11 p. m."

Then the following was intercepted in a series of messages:

"Topa Topa can't reach Meanticut before 4:00 a. m. Monday.

"Meanticut at noon drifting east southeast half-mile an hour. Weather clear. Wind west northwest, three miles (an hour). Large northwest swell. No. 5 hold water up tween decks. Will float for some time.

"S.S. Edam going to assistance arriving 9:00 p. m. Topa Topa now resumed original course."

Shortly after 4 p. m. the following was sent out to all ships:

"Meanticut position about same. Edam taking bearings on him and proceeding. Arrive Meanticut position 7:00 p. m.

"Meanticut still afloat, but afraid bulkhead between No. 1 and No. 2 holds may give away. Meanticut lost two lifeboats during storm. Still has two to take care of crew."

There was silence then for hours, while radio operators at sea and on land clung to their receiver earphones. At 10:00 p. m., the following was received from the S. S. Edam:

"Edam standing by Meanticut but won't try to take off crew before daylight unless necessary."

There has been silence since then.

1000 Lives Lost in Flood Says Frazer; Total Hidden

OFFICIALS CONCEAL DEATH TOLL WIRES BOSTON OFFICER

By ALAN C. FRAZER

Boston American Staff Writer Who Flew With the State's Serum to Louisville in the American's plane.

Requested for an estimate of the Louisville flood deaths, on my return today from the stricken city, to which I flew with anti-typhoid serum, I estimate the total will be close to 1000, when the truth is finally known.

This includes deaths from drownings and from pneumonia, influenza, exposure and other diseases among the 200,000 refugees.

The bodies of most of the drowned have not yet been recovered. A thorough search has not been possible. Many have been swept down the river.

Police Lieutenant Lawrence W. Waitt, who is in command of the Boston two-way radio cars in Louisville, notified Supt. Edward W. Fallon by telegram today that he had been informed the deaths would total 7000.

Waitt Wires Fallon

Following is Lieutenant Waitt's message, in which he refers to the secrecy of officials regarding the death toll:

"All detachment in good health and spirits. Conditions here worse than generally known as press accounts are censored. Drinking water scarce in our part of city. Informed there are 7000 dead."

Last Wednesday, after arriving at Louisville with the serum furnished by Governor Hurley and flown in plane chartered by the Boston Evening American, I found officials secretive about the probable toll.

While they were burying bodies clandestinely, without waiting to try to make identifications, I questioned scores of refugees and relief workers, as well as several doctors, nearly all of whom agreed the deaths would exceed 1000.

Hide Death Total

One state health official, Dr. James Blackerby, said:

"We are not giving out any estimate of the dead."

Dr. Arthur T. McCormack, flood relief director for the state of Kentucky, minimized the number of deaths to "about six."

Then I found that 139 bodies had already been prepared for burial, most of them without coffins.

Believing some interference might be attempted to prevent this story from being published, I flew to Dayton, O., with my Boston pilot, Charles S. Cowan, to put my story on the wire.

The Boston Evening American published the only story sent from a point outside Louisville at the height of the flood by a reporter who had surveyed the city at close hand, both by airplane and boat.

Many Babies Perish

After filing my story at 2 a. m. Thursday, I flew back to Louisville via Indianapolis, where I had to show a pass signed by the Louisville provost-general before I could board a plane for the stricken city.

The authorities there now list 207 dead, mostly refugees who died from pneumonia, influenza and exposure, or babies who died from an interruption of nourishment.

No figures have been given out on the unidentified dead found in the flooded areas. The deeply flooded West End residential district, covering 28 square miles, remains unexplored as yet.

Some residents never were taken out on boats but remained to die slowly of exposure and cold. Many were drowned trying to escape. The West End has now been closed until police search for bodies and inspect all the homes. The sanitary problem is acute, as the sewers remain filled with water.

Boston Cars Praised

The Boston two-way radio cars will prove of inestimable value in patrolling both the West and South Ends when the waters recede. The Boston equipment is already the talk of all the many police who have swarmed into Louisville from half a hundred cities.

Even citizens, whose thoughts center on their own flood problems, stop to watch the Boston officers as they sit in the cars and converse with other cars at distant points.

At the airports at which I stopped on the way back to Boston—Columbus, Pittsburgh, Camden, N. J., Newark, N. J., Hartford, Ct., and Providence, R. I.—I saw cartons of anti-typhoid vaccines heaped up awaiting shipment to Louisville.

These shipments are from the biological laboratories where vaccines are commercially made. Last week all the vaccines rushed into Louisville were supplied by State authorities, and the Massachusetts supply was among the first to arrive and was the only shipment transported by a newspaper.

American Lauded

I have never experienced such a warm welcome, in newspaper work, as was given Cowan and I when we delivered the 70,000 inoculations to the emergency medical center in Louisville. When the doctors learned a newspaper in Boston had handled the shipment, chartering a plane for the purpose, they expressed amazement, as well as gratitude.

The danger of typhoid is a serious one, due to the sewerage problem, but thus far no cases have been found, although influenza is prevalent among the refugees. Many of the relief workers—comprising most of the able-bodied men and youths in the city—are suffering from exposure and exhaustion.

They had little sleep for five or six days, and most of the officials in charge of relief took no sleep at all during the height of the flood.

Only when a watermark showed on the buildings, indicating the flood was at last subsiding, on Friday, did most of the volunteers and the officials charged with the duty of relieving distress, even think of themselves.

SUFFERING

Maternal courage in the face of disaster was shown by Mrs. Roberta Bond of Louisville, shown here with her new-born daughter. Mrs. Bond, seeking refuge, was forced to climb 16 stories in an office building. There her baby was born, a restaurant hostess the only one to give help. Margie Flood Bond will be the baby's name.

A study in weariness and resignation to the flood's terrors is 90-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Smith of Memphis. Exhausted after being saved from the rising waters, she patiently waits removal to a place where she can lie down and sleep.

Milton Auto Crash Injures 3 Women, 2 Children

Three women, a man and two small children were seriously injured today in a head-on collision of a sedan and a coupe at Randolph avenue and Chicatawbut road, Milton.

One of the women, Mrs. Bertha Tanger, 30, of Sumner street, Stoughton, has a possible fracture of the skull and her name is on the danger list at Milton Hospital, to which all the injured were taken.

Mrs. Tanger was hurled through the windshield of the coupe and was lying unconscious by the roadside, when Motor Vehicle Inspector William Barry of Quincy came along.

Theodore Kelly, 36, of Sutherland road, Brighton; his wife, Elizabeth, 35, and their daughters, Elizabeth, 5, and Patricia, 2, suffered multiple contusions, abrasions and lacerations. The elder child's left leg was broken.

They were riding in the sedan, operated by Kelly, which was going southward on Randolph avenue.

The coupe was driven by Mrs. Mary Podoinic, 25, also of 247 Sumner street, Stoughton, who was severely cut and bruised.

SECURITY ACT RULING BALKED

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to pass on litigation challenging constitutionality of the Social Security Act and the Massachusetts Unemployment Insurance Law.

The litigation, brought by Howes Brothers Company of Boston, had been dismissed by the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court. It ruled the Federal law did not violate the constitutional rights of the petitioners.

Howes Brothers contended the state law ineffective because the Federal statute, which it supplants, was unconstitutional.

Josef Hofmann Father of Son

Philadelphia, Feb. 1 (AP)—A son was born today to Mrs. Josef Hofmann, wife of the famous pianist. The child will be named Peter Hofmann. Mrs. Hofmann is the former Betty Short, concert pianist. She was married to Hofmann, director of the Curtis Institute of Music, in 1924. They have two other children, Anton, 11, and Edward, six.

Mary Astor Scoffs At Bridal Report

Hollywood, Feb. 1 (AP)—Mary Astor, film beauty, took cognizance today of reports linking her name with Manuel Del Campo, an actor, and denied emphatically she is contemplating a third marriage.

The couple frequently has been seen together at Hollywood functions.

"We are friends; that is all," said Miss Astor.

Bill to Guard News Sources Pushed

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Representative Curley (D.), New York, said today he would request an early committee hearing on his bill to exempt editors and reporters from contempt charges for refusing to reveal sources of confidential information to Federal courts and grand juries.

The measure would extend to newspaper men privileges already granted doctors, lawyers and ministers.

Child Marriage Ban Asked After 9-Year-Old Girl Weds

TENNESSEE PARENTS DEFEND MATCH DESPITE PROTEST

Sneedvile, Tenn., Feb. 1 (AP)—The marriage of strapping, 22-year-old Charlie Johns to a nine-year-old girl brought demands today that Tennessee enact laws banning such alliances.

Mountain neighbors and civic leaders in Knoxville, 60 miles away, joined in protests, while the girl's parents defended the match.

Mrs. Jane Beckler, widow, who lives in a cabin across a hollow from the Johns' farm, said the marriage "orter not be allowed, that child's unaccountable."

The Rev. Walter Lamb, 53-year-old Baptist clergyman, told reporters he conducted the ceremony for Johns and little Eunice Winstead in the middle of a road Jan. 19 "because they told me they was going to get somebody else if I didn't marry them."

Judge Hugh B. Webster of domestic relations court in Knoxville, said:

"The marriage should not be tolerated and Handcock and all other counties in Tennessee should see that a curb is put on such reckless alliances."

Mrs. Wiley Morgan, president of the Tennessee Federation of Women's Clubs, said:

"Women's and men's organizations have an obligation to demand social decency. That such a thing could occur in Tennessee is disappointing, but it should spur us to demand a thorough reform."

The Rev. J. K. Haynes, Baptist minister of Knoxville, asserted:

"The state itself is a party to this crime against society.

"An organized appeal should be made to the legislature to modernize our marriage law."

Mrs. Urban Ness of the state parent-teachers' association held that "everything possible should be done to induce the Legislature to pass a law prohibiting child marriages."

Parents of the couple remained unperturbed.

Mrs. Lewis Winstead, mother of the bride, said:

"If they love one another then getting married is the thing to do.

"If they want to live together and be happy, then people should leave them alone."

Two years ago the Legislature repealed a law requiring that girls under 18 and boys under 21 must give five days' notice on intention to wed before being granted a license, unless they had the written consent of their parents.

"I'm Right Happy," Says Bride as She Plays in Cabin

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 1 (INS)—East Tennessee's city and town people were up in arms today against the child-marriage of Eunice Winstead — but the nine-year-old backwoods bride was blissfully unaware of the furore.

In her mountain cabin home near Sneedville, she put aside a doll, clambered into the arms of her lanky husband and gravely eyed an interviewer.

"I guess I'm right happy," she said.

Charles Johns, the six-foot, 22-year-old mountain youth who, two weeks ago, espoused Eunice, stroked her honey-colored hair and rocked in his split-bottom, hand-made chair.

The two-room cabin was scrubbed clean. It was crowded with beds and the beds were crowded with mountain folks. Charley Johns' folk, who are now Eunice Winstead's folk.

An air of backwoods reticence enveloped the place, but here and there a linsey quilt, fashioned by the needles of the Johns women, was raised to disclose a listening ear and a peeping eye.

"I have cared for Charley ever since I was a little girl," Eunice remarked, as though years and years were packed into her memory. "He's been awfully good to me.

"Why, he used to rock me to sleep when he came to see me. I've known him almost three years, now, and we've played together nearly every day."

CHILD-BRIDE EAGER

The child-bride amended the last sentence, smilingly eager to explain.

"That is—every day we didn't have to farm," she said, and looked to her father-in-law, sitting across the room in another home-made rocker, for approval.

Father Johns rocked more rapidly.

"Yes," he agreed. "Guess that's so. I always thought Charley was running across the creek to see Mr. and Mrs. Winstead, but I guess that was wrong. These two youngsters sort of put one over on the old folks."

Charley Johns' mother and sister were in the nearest double bed well-covered by quilts, and they declined to get up to meet the interviewer.

Mother Johns put her night-capped head up over the quilt's edge and said emphatically:

"I just don't believe in these child marriages. Why, I was past 21 when I was married, and all my three married girls were 20 years old or more."

She paused to let this information sink in—as though her young daughter-in-law might learn from it. Then she took the sting out of her words with:

"Still, there simply isn't any use of all this to-do about the children getting married. It's over now. For my part, I'd rather it hadn't happened. But I want my boy to be happy, and I expect he is. Eunice is a pert little thing and she will learn fast."

SISTER GIGGLES

Clara Johns, 20, emitted a giggle, from her share of the quilt.

"I don't want to get married right away," she informed the roomful. "But I know a young man who is anxious to do it. Say, I like Eunice fine, of course. She's mighty young, but she's real quiet around the house."

"And I love Charlie," added the bride. "I like to play housekeeping, but I reckon I don't know much about it yet. I can make a bed up, cook jes' a little and bring in wood. I ain't so big, but I'm growin' fast. Charlie does all the hard work and his ma does the cookin'. I help wash dishes, stir the clothes on wash days, and things like that."

"I married her young, but I was aimin' to get me a wife like I want," the husband declared. "Only way I could do it was to get one young enough and raise her myself—to suit me. She's pretty, ain't she?"

Deacon Walter Lamb was there to defend the "doll bride's" startling elopement and marriage. But through the buzz of conversation, Eunice's six-foot husband broke in saying:

"I married her, yes. But I'd been aimin' to get me a wife like I want. Only way I could do it was to get one young enough and raise her myself, to suit me. Eunice is pretty, ain't she?"

Eunice, wearing a bright red dress and button-up sweater, romped away from her raw-boned husband and took to playing with her black and tan terrier and her pet white rat, "Squaky."

Charlie was obviously nervous, but he too had broken his silence. Apparently resolved to go on, he continued:

"I reckon she is a little young, but I believe in raisin' up a wife like you want her, then you don't take no chances.

"Eunice was always a good girl and with things like they are you never know what will happen. So I thought we had better get hitched.

"Mom and Sis will teach her the things she orter know and I'll do the rest. Pretty soon we'll be havin' a cabin of our own down here on the creek branch, and I reckon she'll like it right well."

The bride's mother was married at 16, and she has another daughter who married at 13.

Mrs. Winstead said her bright-eyed little daughter was only interested in the one doll in the room "because Charlie bought it for her for Christmas."

The mother said the newly-weds would make their home with her until their cabin is built.

Elderly Deacon Lamb told of the elopement and marriage:

"Charlie and Eunice met me on the road not far from here. They said they wanted to get married, and I went ahead with it right then and there.

"Sure I noticed the girl was a little young, but I didn't question her when she said she was eighteen."

DAMON RUNYON

WE fear that science has been trifling in frivolous mood with a very serious subject, the Bronx cheer.

Moreover, its frivolity has caused science to confuse the Bronx cheer with other minor manifestations in an utterly inexcusable manner.

It all came out at the annual dinner of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences in New York last week.

The topic of discussion was announced as having to do with "the multi-vibrational beta," which was described as a symbol that had been chosen after years of research to represent "a pneumatic acoustic phenomenon made with the lips and tongue to register varying degrees of disapproval."

A delicate piece of machinery was unveiled for a demonstration in connection with the subject under discussion. Mr. Charles L. Lawrence, aircraft designer, told his audience of the "archeological incubation" and development of sound during the past 6000 years, and said that a deep-seated social urge was behind the Bronx cheer "also known as the bird and razzberries."

Its representation by a scientific symbol, the ancient Greek letter beta, was a most logical and final step in its history, Mr. Lawrence said. Then there were demonstrations with the machine.

The boys were having fun, as we gather, and frankly, we don't like it. We feel that this sort of jesting tends to make light of an old and honorable New York institution, the Bronx cheer.

Of course the Bronx cheer is not the bird, at all. Nor is it the raspberry—misspelled, in levity, "razzberry," by the scientists. If the scientists are not aware of this fact, their ignorance is appalling.

The Bronx cheer is a purely local phenomenon, mainly indigenous to that section of New York known as the Bronx. The Bronx cheer was discovered and titled by "Tad," the great cartoonist, a matter of nearly thirty years ago, while on a trip of exploration to the old Fairmount boxing club in the Bronx.

The Bronx cheer forms in the abdomen, not in the throat or mouth. It doesn't issue quickly, and unexpectedly, like a belch. You can hear it sort o' rumbling deep down, in the fashion of a meditative volcano, and it gathers in volume as it burbles upward until it comes out like this:

"O-ooo-oooo-ooooooomz"

The theory of the deep-seated origin of the Bronx cheer is that when a Bronxonian contemplates going somewhere he immediately begins thinking that he isn't going to like it, so by the time he reaches his chair, the Bronx cheer is already commencing to form abaft his floating ribs. We do not say this is true—we merely say that it is the theory.

The Bronx cheer is a sinister and somewhat bovine moo. It can be long continued. A run of half an hour for the Bronx cheer when the officials have made the error of rendering a decision against a favorite from beyond the Harlem, is considered ordinary.

There is no deep-seated social urge behind the Bronx cheer, as the scientists, in their idle levity, suggest. There may occasionally be the vague aroma of herring and onions behind it, but we wouldn't call that a social urge, and sinister though it sounds, there is no real harm in the Bronx cheer, because after the Bronxonian has indulged his favorite pastime at length, he is all tuckered out, and ready to go home and peacefully hit the old Ostermoor.

The Bronxonian is not, by nature, a man of violence. Out west, the beef often takes the form of rough imprecations. The southern squawk adds gesticulations to angry words. The New England howl is short, and sharp, and as a resigned note. The New Englanders are inherently martyrs. But the Bronxonian is a fellow who just liked to go "oo-ooo-oooo-ooooomz."

The bird, or raspberry, as we all know, is strictly of English origin, and has no place in polite circles in this country. It is employed in the United States chiefly by movie directors as a comic touch in pictures.

In England, for years, they prided themselves on having the only really good birders, or raspberries in the world, but since Mr. George Perry visited that country, they haven't held their heads so high.

That was quite a spell back, that visit of Mr. Perry's. He is now a staid, and slightly gray gentleman, who functions as an assistant to Colonel Jake Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, and brewer of beers, but at the time Great Britain was claiming the bird title, Mr. Perry was in vaudeville.

He was what is known as the scolder, or straight man, in a vaudeville act, and after an audience in a London music hall had harkened to his whimsies for a few minutes, it started giving Mr. Perry the bird. Some of the English champions must have been in the audience, as the first blast blew Mr. Perry's dickey off his chest. He always worked in full evening dress.

The bird went on for fully ten minutes, with the entire audience joining in, and Mr. Perry, instead of retreating from the storm, as was the custom of the birded performer, stood there listening intently and critically. Finally he raised his hand, and the audience, in some amazement, ceased firing.

"You don't know how to do it," said Mr. Perry. "Listen to this."

Then he filled his chest with air, inflated his cheeks, stuck out his tongue, and let go with a ploop that shattered the chandeliers, cracked the plaster on the rear wall of the hall, and shamed the British birders forevermore.

That may be the multi-vibrational beta, but it isn't the Bronx cheer. And we hope science will stop monkeying with sacred subjects.

JUDGE JAILS PAIR FOR SHOT AT OFFICER

Declaring that men who shoot at police officers should be taken out of society, Judge Abraham E. Pinanski in Suffolk superior court today sentenced James Bergen, 23, of Washington street, Roxbury, and William H. Ryan, 26, of Pond avenue, Brookline, to state prison.

Both had been charged with assault with intent to murder Patrolman John Merrineck, of the Jamaica Plain station.

Bergen, a paroled state prison convict, was given 8 to 10 years while Ryan, paroled from Concord Reformatory, was sentenced to 6 to 8 years.

Charges of larceny of an automobile and registration plates against both men were placed on file. Bergen was given a concurrent sentence on a charge of illegal possession of a pistol.

In passing sentence, Judge Pinanski said:

"My first inclination was to give men who shoot police officers 20 years or more. They should be taken out of society.

"In view of the youth of these men, there's a hope they might repent and change their lives by giving them a lesser sentence. They thought they were big shots."

GIVE $150,000 OF FUND TOTAL TO RED CROSS

After a week-end of unceasing effort on the part of 15,000 workers, Greater Boston's 1937 Community Fund campaign was more than half way to its goal today, with a total of $2,166,210 subscribed.

At the same time, General Chairman Robert Cutler announced that the Fund committee had pledged $150,000 to the Boston Metropolitan chapter, American Red Cross, for Ohio river flood relief work.

"This new pledge, two and a half times greater than the $60,000 we originally allotted to the Red Cross for the flood emergency, makes it more than ever imperative that our campaign fund quota of $4,160,000 be generously oversubscribed," Chairman Cutler said today.

Full report of progress of the drive was to be made today at a City club meeting of 600 team leaders and division chairmen.

General Chairman Cutler was ready to announce that he had already turned over to Joseph R. Hamlen, Red Cross chapter chairman, a check for the first $60,000 guaranteed by the Community Fund committee for relief of suffering in the flood area.

"Today sees us more than half way to our total quota of $4,160,000," Cutler said.

"This good showing is in large part due to unselfishness of our 15,000 workers who gave up their week-end leisure, denied themselves their usual recreation and buckled down to continued labor in behalf of this great cause.

UNLUCKY 13 SOVIET PLOTTERS EXECUTED

Moscow, Feb. 1 (AP)—Thirteen convicted Trotskyists, condemned to die for treason and sabotage, were executed by a Soviet firing squad, the Tass (official Russian) news agency announced tonight.

"The sgentence of the military collegium of the supreme court of the U. S. S. R. was carried out February 1."

The 12 convicted defendants—on whom sentence was passed Saturday after a lengthy trial before three judges—were listed by their last names in the declaration.

Details of the executions were not given.

LAST PLEA FAILS

The prisoners, convicted of treason and sabotage in the trial in which 17 confessed plotters were punished by the highest Russian tribunal, had appealed despairingly to the presidium of the Communist executive committee, their last resort.

When the committee rejected their pleas for clemency, it became a virtual certainty they must die by 3:15 a. m. 72 hours after the military collegium of the Supreme Court pronounced sentence.

That was the legal interval during which the government's terse announcement, "the court's verdict has been carried out," was expected.

Four of the defendants—Karl Radek, most prominent Russian publicist, Gregory Sokolnikoff, former Soviet ambassador to Great Britain, M. S. Stroiloff, and V. V. Arnold, who had said he was once an American citizen, escaped with prison sentences.

4 ESCAPE DEATH

The judges said these four had been guilty only of "political" crimes, not or terraristic acts, and sent Arnold to prison for eight years, the others for ten.

Many of the men sentenced to die once held high places of trust in the Soviet government, among them Gregory Piatikoff, former assistant commissar for heavy industry; L. Serebryakoff, former assistant commissar of communications; S. A. Tataychak, former head of the chemical industry; J. A. Livshitz, former vice commissar of railroads, and J. N. Drobnis, former secretary of the Moscok Soviet.

The others were N. I. Muraloff, M. S. Boguslavsky, former member of the presidium of the Moscow Soviet; R. O. Norkin, former head of the munitions trust; J. D. Turok, former chief of exploitation of the Perm railway; A. A. Shestoff, I. J. Grashe, G. E. Pushin, and I. A. Kniazeff, former chief of the Southern railways.

MOTORS STRIKE BATTLE HEADS

Sheriff Wolcott was booed out of the plants when he tried to serve an injunction against the sit-downers several weeks ago. The worst bloodshed in the GM strikes occurred Jan. 11 after the heat was turned off in Fisher body No. 2 and sympathizers were barred from bringing food to the sit-downers.

NEW TROUBLES

New troubles threatened the reported Chevrolet plant here before the sit-down isue was scheduled to be tested. Union employes claimed discrimination and demanded a conference with the management.

The union claimed several members were fired without cause during the two days last week that the plant, employing 12,500, was in operation on a part-time basis.

"They will be rehired or else," Robert Travis, union leader today said.

He refused to say what methods would be used. Powers Hapgood, another organizer, laughed at the suggestion of another sit-down strike or picketing.

Again the governor refused to be quoted on whether the National Guard, still stationed here, would be used to evict the strikers in event the court upheld General Motors' request they be evicted. He said he would leave the eviction problem strictly to Flint officials.

PLAN GIANT PROTEST

The Flint Alliance, organization of non-striking G. M. workers, today issued a call for workers from Detroit, Bay City, Saginaw, Flint and Pontiac to join a giant protest meeting on Capitol grounds in Lansing, Wednesday.

On motion of Richard T. Frankensteen, U. A. W. organizer in Detroit, 4500 Dodge workers Sunday adopted a motion asking for a 75-cent an hour minimum. Frankensteen said:

"Chrysler has always boasted it has paid as much or better than anyone else in the auto industry. Now let them prove it."

SITTERS TO RETURN

Non-union General Motors workers "evacuated" Governor Murphy's reception room in the State House after "sitting down" several hours.

The workers, from Detroit Chevrolet Gear and Axle, were protesting the governor's refusal to promise protection to workers under G. M. C.'s back-to-work movement. Before quitting the premises, the workers said they would return today to resume their "sit-down."

Doctors Complete Tests on Exhumed Body of Mrs. Roy

Lawrence, Feb. 1—Examination of the organs of Mrs. Eva Pelletier Roy, whose body was exhumed from a grave in West Andover a fortnight ago, has been completed, it was learned today.

Dr. Carl H. Eldam, former medical examiner, turned over his report to Dr. Victor A. Reed, who had performed an autopsy at the request of Mrs. Annie Pelletier of Somersworth, N. H., the dead woman's mother.

Neither physician would say whether or not the analysis of the organs showed poison, nor would they indicate what would be the next step.

The report, said Dr. Reed, was being mailed by special delivery to Mrs. Pelletier's attorney, Ovilla Gregoire, of Dover, N. H.

Mrs. Roy, who was 34, died at Berwick, Me., and was buried in Sacred Heart Cemetery at West Andover, May 25, 1935. The body was exhumed, by petition of the mother, on January 23, this year.

Manila, Feb. 1 (AP)—The roar of aerial salutes mingled with the shrill sirens of massed shipping in Manila Bay today to greet Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, of Philadelphia, papal legate to the first Eucharistic Congress to be held in the Far East.

As the liner Conte Rosso dropped anchor after her journey from Naples with the papal mission, thousands of Filipinos and delegates crowded the waterfront.

The Cardinal spoke a brief greeting to the church officials and government dignataries.

COTTON PICKS UP

Raw cotton consumption for the entire year was below the daily average of 1935, but in December, the daily average was 3948, the highest in any month since March 1934.

Money rates were higher on January 20 than a month previous. Since the end of 1936, up to January 20, total bank deposits rose $23,000,000, to a level $38,000,000 higher than the corresponding date a year ago.

The size of the deficit to be assessed on the cities and towns of the district will not be known until March 31, when the fiscal year terminates.

A total of 15,778,140 more passengers carried in 1936 than in 1935 and 28,335,237 more than in 1933, the low level year for riding.

Revenue miles increased 458,733 in 1936 over 1935, and 350,958 more than in 1933.

Net increase in 1936 as compared with 1935 of $101,094.17 in fixed charges, comprising taxes, dividends, subway rentals, bond interests and rent of leased roads, resulting from the tax for unemployment compensation and interest charges on account of the buying of the Chelsea division of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company.

Operating expenses, which include wages, materials, injuries, damages, depreciation and fuel increased $744,929.40 in 1936 over 1935. Of this increase, payroll accounted for $589,306.78, injuries and damages, $99,128.06.

REFINANCING PLEA

The trustees urge the Legislature to place upon a permanent basis the "sound method" of refinancing Elevated maturing bonds instituted in 1933, whereby the metropolitan district was authorized to issue its bonds for purchasing Elevated refunding bonds.

Citing a plum colored suit worn by a Spanish political leader as an instance in point, Mrs. Dorothy Fuldheim, Old South forum speaker, told Boston men they ought to wear "brighter" clothes for the sake of "coloring the drabness of existence."

Sickness From Colds Cut More Than Half

Startling Results Obtained in Biggest Colds-Clinic of Its Kind Ever Held

Final figures—audited and certified by a nationally known firm of public accountants—disclose really amazing results from a long series of clinical tests of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds.

The clinic included four series of winter tests, begun in 1932 and concluded last year. A total of 17,353 men, women, and children took part as subjects—and a staff of 37 physicians and 200 nurses and supervisors was necessary to the work.

Following is an official summary of results.* Just think what such results would mean to you and your family, especially now with colds at their peak—

Fewer Colds—a reduction of about one-fourth (24.66%) in the number of colds, with all their discomforts and dangers.

Shorter Colds—a reduction of over one-fourth (28.78%) in duration of the colds that did develop.

Less Sickness—a reduction of over one-half (50.88%) in sickness from colds.

Fewer School Absences—a reduction of considerably more than half (57.86%) in days absent because of colds.

What Can Vicks Plan Do for Your Family?

Throughout these tests, results varied in different groups. Some were almost unbelievably good; others were comparatively poor. In your own family group, too, individual results from following Vicks Plan may vary. But its fine record in this tremendous colds-clinic certainly makes it well worth your trying in your own home. Here is the Plan, in outline:

1. To Help PREVENT Many Colds

Keep out of crowds as much as possible. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Stay in the open air as much as you can. Eat light, wholesome food and drink plenty of water. Keep elimination regular.

Watch yourself and your family after any exposure likely to be followed by a cold. Then—at the first sniffle or sneeze or the slightest irritation in the nose—quick!—put a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril. Va-tro-nol is specialized medication, expressly designed for the nose and upper throat, where most colds start. Used in time, it helps to prevent many colds or to throw off head-colds in their early stages.

2. To RELIEVE a Cold Sooner

If a cold strikes without warning or gets by even the best precautions—as some colds always will—go straight to bed. Eat lightly and drink plenty of water and fruit juices. For prompt relief, use this vigorous treatment with your dependable Vicks VapoRub:

Massage it briskly on the throat, chest and back, for 3 full minutes. Then spread a thick layer of VapoRub over the chest and cover with a warmed cloth. Long after you relax into restful sleep, VapoRub's famous poultice-and-vapor action continues for hours, loosening the phlegm, easing the coughing, and helping to break up local congestion.

*To Physicians—The official report of this unusual colds-clinic, its methods and results, is now available in handy booklet form. A copy can be had on request to the Research Dept., Vick Chemical Co., Greensboro, N. C.

6 INDICTED IN BROOKLINE VICE, GRAFT PROBE NAMED

waived examination, lacking counsel.

ALL FIVE BAILED

All five defendants furnished bail—McNeil $2500, Dr. Ostrer $1000, Donovan $1000, Cilley $1000 and Grennon $1000.

Judge Joseph Walsh continued the cases until the April term of superior court at Dedham, but reports in the courthouse were that District Attorney Edmund R. Dewing would seek an earlier date.

Mentioned in the indictments as houses operated for "use of women for financial reward" were addresses in Beacon, St. Mary and Ivy streets, Brookline.

CHIEF, SMITH CONFER

Police Chief H. Allen Rutherford of Brookline arrived at the courthouse more than an hour before the arraignments and went into conference with Assistant District Attorney Harold J. Smith, who acted as prosecutor today.

The police chief held a front row seat in the spectators' section while the formalities of pleading and arranging for bail were going on.

After the arraignments, he left the courthouse and it was reported that he would be present at an afternoon meeting of the Brookline board of selectmen, where action growing out of the indictments was expected to be taken.

Sergeant McNeill, the town of Brookline's "one-man vice squad," had indicated his belief, long before arraignment, that he was one of those indicted. He had also made a veiled threat that he would "blow the lid off the case."

In a prepared statement, issued to newspapermen with the permission of his counsel, Attorney George Stanley Harvey, Sergeant McNeill asserted that whatever he had done as the town's "one-man" vice squad had been on the orders of higher-ups and certain town officials even though he had not agreed with their instructions.

His statement also called on these town officials and higher-ups to come forward at once and state publicly the facts about the methods they adopted and ordered him to follow even against his wishes in the handling of alleged conditions of vice.

McNeill's statement was made public at the same time that the final arrest of one of the six persons indicted was made by Norfolk county deputy sheriffs and police of the Back Bay station.

Descending on an apartment house in Jersey street, Back Bay, the officers took Cilley into custody.

District Attorney Dewing said he had no comment to make on Cilley's arrest, pointing out that the matter was entirely within the province of Sheriff Capen, who is handling the captures.

"Apparently he saw fit only to make one arrest," Dewing said. "I can't do anything about that."

Cilley, who was shaving when the officers entered the Jersey street apartment, protested his innocence and expressed amazement that he had been involved by the grand jury indictment in the Brookline situation.

He said he had never had any dealings with any persons mentioned in connection with the vice probe and told officers he had no idea where he would raise the $2000 which was set as bail in his case.

Sergeant McNeill's statement drew quick retorts from two prominent Brookline officials when it was brought to their attention.

Judge Daniel A. Rollins of Brookline district court, who is also chairman of the town board of selectmen, denied the statement applied in any way to himself or to the selectmen. Judge Rollins was a witness before the special grand jury session which returned 21 indictments against Cilley and five others.

"I can't see how his statement applies to the board of selectmen of this town," Judge Rollins said. "He may mean some other town official, but I can't see how it would apply to my board or myself.

"Of course, I know nothing of the action taken by the grand jury except what has been reported in the newspapers.

"Until I, as chairman of the board of selectmen, receive official notification that any policemen have been indicted, I cannot make any statement as to what action will be taken by the board.

MEETING TODAY

"We will hold a meeting this afternoon and by that time, perhaps, we shall have received notification of indictments against one or more policemen, if any have been indicted. Then we shall act as the occasions demand. Until then we can do nothing."

The other official to come forward with an answer to Sergeant McNeill's statement was Judge Philip S. Parker, presiding justice of the district court, former chairman of the board of selectmen and at present town solicitor.

Judge Parker also was a witness before the special session of the grand jury in its probe of the Brookline situation.

"All I can say at this time is that I, personally, am not concerned in the sergeant's charges in any way," Judge Parker declared.

Police Chief Rutherford refused to make any comment on the substance of McNeill's statement, although he indicated he would probably order the suspension of any officers indicted, but not until he had received official notification of the indictment, or indictments.

Superiors Blamed By Sgt. McNeill

Following is portion of statement issued by Sergeant Henry H. McNeill, of the Brookline police, and given to the newspapers with the permission of Sergeant McNeill's attorney, George Stanley Harvey:

SERGT. HENRY H. McNEILL

As a police officer of the town of Brookline for a period of approximately 20 years, it has been my privilege to serve the town faithfully as well as to obey the instructions of my superiors while I was a patrolman and as well as during the last seven years as a sergeant, during which time it would seem that I, to a great degree in any event, had been the so-called vice squad, and during my period of service I have at all times acted within my authority so far as possible for the best interests of the community.

During the period of this investigation and before the grand jury met on Wednesday last, I volunteered my assistance to the district attorney in order that he might interview me and, further, that I would gladly appear before the grand jury, waiving all rights to immunity, and frankly and truthfully answer any questions that either the district attorney or the grand jury might want to ask because no one has been any keener to have this investigation truthfully and fully conducted than have I.

Certain officials of the town of Brookline very well know the policy which has been adopted over a period of years with regard to certain violations of the law and they know very definitely what my instructions have been with regard to dealing with these matters; and as a police officer I have not only respected the wishes of my superiors, but I have definitely followed their instructions even though there have been instances where I did not entirely agree with their policies and ideas.

Now that the matter has been brought to a head, it is to be hoped that these officials will state publicly the facts about the methods which they have adopted and I certainly expect that they will do so and that after this is all done there will be no reflection cast upon me as a police officer.

(Signed)

HARRY H. McNEILL,
Sergeant of Police.

4 AGED SAVED FROM FLAMES

Four elderly persons were rescued and a police hero overcome by smoke today at a two-alarm fire in congested Green street, West End.

Carried out by Patrolman Walter Lindsay were Mrs. Eleanor Gifford, 61, and George Beals, 83. As Lindsay reached the street with Beals, he collapsed. He was taken to Haymarket Relief Hospital.

Firemen carried 60-year-old James Collins down over ladders from the third floor, who had been in bed.

Other firemen rescued William McCann, 52, who was ill with pneumonia. They were able to carry him down the stairway from the second floor.

Helen Gifford, 18-year-old granddaughter of the woman Patrolman Lindsay rescued, gave the alarm after she heard a blast in a radio shop on the first floor of the three-story brick building.

She was sick in bed with grippe, but wrapped blankets around herself to sound the alarm. The windows were blown out of the shop.

Fire and police officials said that the fire had undoubtedly started in the radio shop operated by Louis Cassin, but the cause was not determined immediately.

Traffic was so tied up by the apparatus and crowds in the narrow streets that it took more than an hour for police to untangle it.

Damage was estimated at $1500.

CURLEY AWAY, SUIT DELAYED

A scheduled hearing in the city's suit against ex-Governor James M. Curley and Dr. Joseph Santosuosso was postponed today, due to the absence of Curley from Boston, on his honeymoon.

The papers in this suit have been impounded and the details have not been revealed. Disclosure of their contents was expected today, but the further postponement to March 8 prevented it.

Telegrams Mark Cannon's Trial

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—An attorney for Representative George Holden Tinkham of Massachusetts placed in Federal District court records today a batch of telegrams concerned with Bishop James Cannon, Jr.'s, stock market transactions a decade ago.

The documentary testimony credited Cannon with an $18,000 market profit at one time.

CASH FOR AGED PROVIDED IN U. S. BILL

Washington, Feb. 1 (INS)—A billion-dollar appropriation bill which carries increases for old-age pensions and provides for many governmental establishments, was reported to the House by its appropriations committee today.

The measure appropriates $1,046,757,143, which is $59,703,218 above last year, but $5,950,000 under President Roosevelt's budget estimates.

Severe criticism of many federal agencies for making huge expenditures for printing to "sell" themselves to the public was contained in the report.

RIDER ATTACHED

A "rider" attached to the first deficiency bill, prohibiting Senate and House investigation committees from using government personnel was contained in the bill.

The measure carries $150,000,000 for grants to states to match old-age pensions, compared with $85,000,000 provided last year. A total of $46,500,000 is provided for grants to states for unemployment insurance administration, compared with $11,500,000 last year.

Major commission appropriations included:

Federal Communications, $1,629,000—a cut of $245,000.

Federal Power, $1,525,000—a cut of $184,000.

Interstate Commerce, $7,939,500—an increase of $819,950.

National Labor Relations, $785,000—an increase of $50,000.

Rural Electrification, $31,250,000—an increase of $30,520,000.

Securities Exchange, $3,895,000—decrease of $343,000.

Social Security Board, $254,600,000—increase of $66,800,000.

Veterans Administration, $585,832,000—increase of $78,601,558.

Federal Trade, $1,981,000—increase of $142,000.

Decrease in the SEC appropriation was due to suspension of many activities under the Wheeler-Rayburn utility holding act pending decision on constitutionality of the law.

The committee provided a specific fund of $200,000 to enable the interstate commerce commission to fix air mail rates as required by law.

While the committee decreased the budget estimate for the Social Security board by $5,000,000, it stated that it took this action in the belief that the board could not expand personnel rapidly enough to use the money.

A sum of $1,000,000 was added to the Federal Housing Administration's appropriation so that benefits of the act could be extended into sparsely settled communities.

GEM SUSPECTS LOSE IN PLEA

Worcester, Feb. 1—Motions for separate trials in Boston for the Giamapa brothers, indicted as accessories in the $125,000 Kennedy jewel robbery, were denied by Judge James C. Donnelly in Superior Court today.

Trial opens tomorrow at 10 a. m. for the six indicted in connection with the armed robbery of Mrs. William J. Kennedy at her Southboro home last November.

'Looper' Suspect And Boy Friend Face Trial

Mary Walsh, 19, of Bunker Hill street, Charlestown, first girl arrested as an alleged "looper," pleaded not guilty today in Charlestown court to larceny and unauthorized use of an automobile.

She was held in $1100 bail for a hearing Wednesday.

The girl was arrested after a chase through Charlestown and Somerville streets Friday night. Police fired a dozen shots at the automobile in which she was allegedly riding around the Charlestown "loop," for which many boys have been arrested in the past.

John L. Wilson, 20, of Gray street, Charlestown, alleged driver of the car, was held in $1200 for trial Wednesday on the same charges as the girl, and an additional one of dangerous driving. He pleaded not guilty.

Cambridge Boy Missing; Link To Harris Case Seen

A mile away from the home of the slain Chester Harris, a 11-year-old Cambridge newsboy mysteriously disappeared Friday night, it was revealed today.

The youngster, John Conway, of Cherry street, was last seen by his parents when he left the house, as usual, for Harvard square to sell his newspapers.

Parents of the boy, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Conway, said he left the house at 5 o'clock, right after supper. The father told reporters:

"I'm afraid he has met the same fate as the Harris boy."

The Conway home is located a half mile from Central square in the direction of Kendall square, while the Harris home is a half mile on the opposite side of the square, toward the Charles river.

Cambridge police said today they would confer with police of the Harvard Yard today concerning the Conway disappearance. It is in the Harvard Yard, they pointed out, that the Conway boy walked every night selling his papers and was a familiar sight to Harvard police.

He was described as four feet four inches tall, 65 pounds, medium complexion and wearing a green mackinaw, white pants with a black stripe and high black shoes.

His disappearance was reported to Cambridge police Saturday morning but was not revealed by them until today. The parents said they did not discover their son missing until Saturday morning since it was not unusual for him to come home late.

DEMAND DUMP CLEANUP

As they started a search for this youngster, Cambridge police were called upon today to rid the city of old huts and abandoned automobile bodies where attacks on children are alleged to have occurred after the Harris slaying.

In a letter to Mayor John D. Lynch, Robert C. True, Cambridge agent of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, demanded that action be taken today "in the interests of public decency."

"These old wooden shacks and old automobile bodies are dens of vice," True said. "There are a number of them in Cambridge."

Meanwhile police, hopeful of uncovering as yet unrevealed information, started questioning every resident, including children, living within a radius of four blocks of the Harris home.

Charge Shakedown At Petting Parties

Alleged police shakedown of Brookline girls and their escorts in petting parties was revealed today through arraignments in the Brookline vice and graft probe.

It was disclosed in the indictments that two Brookline patrolmen, James Donovan and Thomas G. Grennon, are accused of attempting to extort money from petters and from motorists traversing the town.

One man they are alleged to have attempted to extort money from was a motorist threatened with a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

From a girl found in a car near Brookline reservoir in June, 1935, it is alleged in the indictment that $5 was asked and obtained.

HURLEY PUTS 13 BACK ON JOBS

Governor Hurley today ordered the reinstatement of 13 scrubwomen and cleaners, and declared that these discharges were being dictated by a hidden authority to cause him embarrassment.

His policy of sane economy, the governor said, did not include such discharges.

He said he had left it to department heads to clean their own house, but had discovered that "the influence which was so very apparent during the last two years is still in force" and is "fingering out" certain employes for discharge.

Besides six scrubwomen discharged in the Department of Public Works, the governor revealed seven cleaners had been removed at Commonwealth Pier.

He sent one of his secretaries, Paul Ryan, to the Public Works Building today to make a personal investigation of the department personnel and other matters, with which Ryan is familiar through years of State House coverage as a newspaperman.

"True economy does not mean wholesale discharges," said the governor. "My policy is not intended to destroy the efficient operation of the various departments. Nor does it involve the selection of certain groups of employes for discharge.

"I have recognized during the last ten days that various department heads, more particularly the Public Works Department, have through some hidden source been directed to make discharges that would be most embarrassing to me."

THE RULES . . . Please Read Them Carefully

1. OLD GOLD'S PUZZLE CONTEST is open to everybody with the exception of the employees of P. Lorillard Company, Inc., and its advertising and sales promotion agencies.

2. A group of not less than 90 puzzles which will become increasingly difficult as the contest proceeds will be offered for solution. Each puzzle will represent or in some definite way contain clues which will convey the idea of a name. The name may be that of a person, book, song, movie, city, state or nation. The earlier puzzles will be of the more elementary type, in order to assist contestants in familiarizing themselves with the principles for solving this particular kind of puzzle.

3. OLD GOLD will pay a First Prize of $100,000.00 and 999 other cash prizes (a grand total of 1,000 prizes, aggregating $200,000.00) to the one thousand contestants who by their submissions achieve the one thousand highest scores through solving puzzles they are called upon to solve under these rules and who in all other ways conform to all of these Rules.

4. The puzzles will be issued for solutions in weekly series of six, and contestants are asked to solve and submit solutions EACH WEEK. The 1st Week's Series of 6 puzzles bears the release date of Monday, Feb. 1, 1937. Each Monday, for fourteen additional weeks, there will be another weekly series to solve. Contestants should solve the puzzles and submit solutions to same during the week following issuance date of each series. In submitting the solutions for any current series, a contestant is privileged to submit solutions for preceding series. Thus, a contestant entering contest during 2nd week should submit both 1st Week's Series as well as the 2nd Week's Series; and a contestant entering during the 3rd week should submit both the 1st and 2nd Weeks' Series as well as the 3rd Week's Series, and so on. All series should be qualified in accordance with Rule No. 7.

5. Contestants are requested to mail their solutions EACH WEEK, in series of six. The various current weekly series of puzzles, together with Entry Forms, may be obtained FREE at any place where OLD GOLDS are sold, or puzzles and ENTRY FORMS may be clipped from newspapers or circulars and will be equally acceptable.

6. Neatness will not count. Do not decorate your solutions. Just solve the puzzles in accordance with the rules. In case of ties as many of the prizes will be reserved as there are contestants tied before any prizes are awarded for a less perfect submission; that is, if two or more persons tie in submitting the correct solutions to all of the puzzles then the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them and these two or more prizes will be awarded in the order of the accuracy of the submissions to a first or, if necessary, a second group of tie-breaking puzzles, the second group of tie-breaking puzzles to be accompanied by a letter as hereinafter specified. In event a second tie-breaking group of puzzles is necessary contestants eligible to solve same will be required to accompany their solutions to this second tie-breaking group of puzzles with a letter of between 100 and 200 words on the subject: "The Increased Popularity of Old Gold Cigarettes in My Community as a Result of the Old Gold Contest." Only in case of ties still existing after submissions to the second tie-breaking group of puzzles have been checked will the accompanying letters be considered and in that event prizes will be awarded on the basis of originality in description and general interest of the letters. In case two or more letters are judged of equal originality and general interest then duplicate prizes will be awarded.

7. To qualify for a prize, the contestant is required to accompany each series of solutions with three OLD GOLD yellow package wrappers, or three reasonably accurate hand-drawn facsimiles. Either will be equally acceptable. It is not necessary to make a purchase in order to compete. A contestant is privileged to enter more than one complete set of solutions, but each entry must be individually identified as entry "A"; entry "B," etc. Each entry will be judged as a unit. No contestant is eligible to win more than one prize, the highest prize won by any individual entry submitted by that contestant.

8. Upon entering this contest and by the submission of solutions to the puzzles, the contestant agrees that the decision of P. Lorillard Company in all matters affecting the conduct of the contest, the acceptance of submissions, the making of awards and the measures invoked to insure individual effort in fairness to all contestants shall be final and conclusive. The P. Lorillard Company will establish an individual file for each contestant, but will not be responsible for submissions or communications unduly delayed or lost in the mail either from or to the contestant.

Alcazar Siege Delayed Fall of Madrid--Franco

Spanish Rebel Chief Tells Marquise Of Plans

(General Francisco Franco, commander in chief, of Spain's Insurgent Nationalists, admits in the following remarkable interview that an international military error is responsible for the delay blocking his efforts to capture Madrid.

The interview, in which General Franco reveals his admiration for Americans in general and one American woman in particular, was obtained by the Marquise Nena de Belmonte, member of one of Spain's most illustrious families. The marquise, who makes her home in New York, arrived in Spain recently for a personal tour of the battle front.)

By MARQUISE NENA DE BELMONTE

Copyright, 1937, by Universal Service

Salamanca, Spain, Feb. 1 (US)—I found General Franco sitting behind a huge desk full of papers in his headquarters office now established in the former Episcopal Palace here.

Climbing up the great staircase with soldiers around me on all sides, I passed two magnificently-clad Moorish guards and was ushered finally into the presence of the man who is saving Spain from itself.

As we broke spontaneously into animated conversation in Spanish, I could scarcely believe this was the militant commander I had come so far to interview.

Not yet 45, but a touch of silver in his hair already, the general has a bright appealing smile and the mildest manner.

Simple Manner

He is simple, unassuming and . . . loves to talk! None of the theatrical grandeur affected by so many other famous men the world over.

We plunged right into a discussion of America. General Franco said:

"The United States is a country I deeply admire. It is young and powerful and has that spirit of patriotism which we Spaniards now feel so strongly.

"Of course we are sorry that many people in the United States have misunderstood our efforts in this war and do not realize that we are fighting not only for the salvation of Spain but for the sake of a whole civilization as well.

"President Roosevelt, however, has behaved in the manner of a true gentleman.

"His neutrality legislation, stopping export of war material to either side—the quick manner in which it was passed and carried into effect, is a gesture we nationalists shall never forget.

"The United States, noted for its fairness, has once more proved that it can live up to its reputation."

The general toyed with a little Spanish flag beside the telephone on his desk as he continued:

Woman in Legion

"I have the very best of memories of Americans. There is one especially that I prize very highly.

"I was at the time commanding the Foreign Legion. One more legionnaire was added to our troops—an American.

"He proved himself courageous and loyal. Did I say 'he'" (the general smiled) "I should have said 'she.'

"It turned out to be an American woman. Disguised as a man, she fought for sometime in the legion without anybody suspecting she was a woman.

"When she was finally discovered she identified herself as Rosetta Hoolirigt. I believe she was from Philadelphia. We allowed her to stay with us for a while—but as a nurse, not a soldier.

"She is the only woman ever to serve in the Spanish Foreign Legion. To the U. S. A. goes this honor.

Military Error

"Of course, that was before the present war started. Now I hear she wishes to join the legion again as a fighter."

"And will she be allowed to come?" I couldn't [illegible] interrupting the general to [illegible]

"Not as a fighter. Only men are allowed to fight for us. But, just the same her gesture [illegible] moved us deeply."

Then the conversation switched to the [illegible] trend of the civil war and the fate of Madrid. I asked why Madrid hadn't fallen yet. General Franco replied:

"I know that is a question worrying the countries friendly to us. But can there be any doubt about our final victory?

"Undoubtedly, many people wanted and expected from me a quick, audacious finale. But they should realize as far as we are concerned this is a military war.

"We follow lines of strategy carefully studied. We move little by little in accordance with that strategy.

"It is hard for those outside to understand why we haven't conquored all of Madrid in view of the fact that we were inside a part of the city's defense lines for two months.

"We did commit a serious military error that has delayed our capture of Madrid. But we did so intentionally and with our eyes open.

"When Toledo was besieged and our comrades were trapped and surrounded in the famous siege of the Alcazar fortress, we weakened our Madrid lines to rush to the rescue of our comrades.

"We saved the Alcazar afterwards—well, we had to fight again to recover our lost positions before Madrid. This took a whole month and enabled the red forces to reinforce themselves with men and munitions.

"Foreign troops poured into Madrid to fight against us, under the direction of Soviet delegates.

"Of course, if we had wished to unleash on Madrid the full fury of our guns and planes, the city would have been wrecked and reduced to an ash heap by now, but—"

Madrid Objective

Here the general paused, drew breath and went on:

"Our objective is Madrid. But not Madrid entirely destroyed. We don't want our capital in ruins.

"It is bad enough what the Marxist crowds have done to it already—moral ruin and anguish of 1,000,000 persons subjected for months to their atrocities. Banks, houses, everything has been robbed."

About the international aspects of the civil war, General Franco had this to say:

"We haven't given the war an international aspect. There are no foreigners on our side except the legitimate volunteers in our foreign legion.

"Ireland wanted to send us 10,000 men but we refused, and the only Irish among us are volunteers in the foreign legion.

"Not so on the other side. Soviet Russia is definitely interested in the final victory of the Marxist regime in Spain.

"A Soviet Spain would have been the ideal help Russia wanted in southern Europe. And so she has done her utmost to that end.

"We Nationalists fight only for Spain.

"Our enemy fights not only for a Soviet state in Spain—but a Soviet in all Europe, and if possible, eventually in all the world."

As we shook hands in farewell and once more I saw the general smile, I completely realized that the fate of my country had found its best friend in the person of one of the greatest patriots Spain has ever known!

Talks To Rebel Leader On War

International News Photograph Service

Marquise Nena de Belmonte, of Spanish aristocracy, now living in New York, who gained from General Franco an authoritative account of the cause of his failure to capture Madrid as yet.

1000 Rebels Dead, Wounded in Battle

Madrid, Feb. 1 (US)—Madrid's military defense committee announced that 1,000 insurgents were killed and wounded in the terrific battle for possession of Aranjuez, vital rail and highway junction city 28 miles south of the capital.

It was stated General Francisco Franco's troops were "completely frustrated" in four days of violent efforts to wrest Aranjuez from the Red militia.

Another communique declared government troops repulsed a new insurgent offensive in the West Park sector of the Madrid war front.

The attacking forces were hurled back with heavy losses after bitter fighting raged for hours from the suburb of Barrio to Dusera, the communique said.

LAKE PAINTING AT SPORT SHOW

Thanks to Bert C. Mason, former Boston art student, there was a pleasant surprise in prospect at the New England Sportsmen's Show today for Massachusetts hunters and fishermen accustomed to go yearly to New Hampshire's wilderness-encircled Second Connecticut lake.

Mason, in charge of the Granite state's exhibit at Mechanics Building, made a special trip to the Connecticut lake region, back-packing his drawing materials across miles of woodland trails.

From sketches made in the heart of the famous big game district, he painted the huge canvas backdrop which gives an outdoor setting in the New Hampshire guides' camp, a special Sportsman's Show feature.

The petition was signed by Secretary G. Howard Perkins and listed the president of the corporation as Charles R. Gow, the treasurer as Ralph L. Warren.

Providence Man Killed by Auto

Providence, R. I., Feb. 1—As bad weather here increased, the number of highway accidents increased with the death of Thomas E. Hardiman, 60.

He was killed when struck by a motor car in East Providence.

Boy, 14, 2nd Blast Victim; Police Asked to Find Sister

VICTOR KLEROWSKI

A cryptic message over police teletype started a hunt today for a two-months Dorchester bride to tell her of the tragic death of her 14-year-old brother, second victim of last week's paint can explosion in a dump off Dorchester avenue.

Victor Kierowski, of Greenmount street, Dorchester, who suffered serious burns last week when paint cans exploded in a dump bonfire, died early today in City Hospital.

Sebastian Carbone, 14, of Dorchester avenue, died Friday.

A sorrowful mother, Mrs. John Kierowski, unable to communicate with a daughter, Mrs. Mary Kierowski Stillings, appealed to the Boston Evening American today to locate her daughter, if possible. Through the American, police were asked to assist in the search.

Mrs. Kierowski made the plea to this newspaper after a telegram, sent to her daughter's last address in Green street, Philadelphia, was returned undelivered. With it was the notation that the addressee had moved leaving no forwarding address.

Worry over health and whereabouts of Mrs. Stillings, who is 21 years old, added to the strain upon the mother today.

The 21-year-old bride is blonde and pretty, of less than medium height. She married Lloyd Stillings, a night club entertainer specializing in cowboy songs.

2-CT. POSTAGE IS PROPOSED

Washington, Feb. 1 (INS)—Rep. Martin (R) of Massachusetts, today introduced a bill in the House to authorize a two-cent postage rate on first class mail within the corporate limits of any city or town, or within the limits of a postal district.

The elderly man explained to the clerk that due to an oversight the birth was not recorded when the youngster arrived in March, 1872.

NEW FOOD HIT HERE!

Housewives Rush to Serve Bananas in Exciting New Dishes

Workers Welcome Quick Food Energy in Ripe Bananas

BOSTON—Bananas are Boston's new food favorite. The smartest homes, the finest tables, the newest food articles, the best menu planners—they all feature this popular fruit.

USED AS A VEGETABLE

Bananas "double" as a vegetable, baked or broiled or fried. Bananas with gay fluted edges adorn the smartest salads. Banana scallops, banana muffins, banana cakes and pies and shortcakes win fame for local housewives.

And the quick food energy in a between-meal snack of a husky ripe banana helps many a Boston worker fight 4 o'clock fatigue.

ON THE LEVEL!

Surveyor Thomas A. Ryan enjoys that invigorating between-meal snack, a ripe banana, while he's on the job. It's an energy builder!

HE LIKES 'EM

J. A. HOLMAN, New England manager of the National Broadcasting Company, often saves time on busy days by lunching at his desk. Today he is sampling Banana Scallops, served crisp and crunchy, piping hot. See recipe.

THE HAPPY SISTERS DRINK BANANAS

TIME OUT for a quick one! Estelle, Muriel and Olive, NBC's "Happy Sisters," pause between rehearsals for a Banana Milk Shake. Easy to make at home: just slice a fully ripe banana into a bowl and beat with a rotary egg beater or electric mixer until creamy. Add one cup cold milk and mix thoroughly. Serve cold!

"BLUE STREAK" FINAL. The last edition of the Herald Traveler is ready to go to bed, and pressman Robert Boleyn prepares for a strenuous session by munching his favorite quick lunch, a mellow, ripe banana.

Mrs. Earle Richardson of 1125 Commonwealth Ave. making Banana Scallops.

HOW TO MAKE BANANA SCALLOPS

INGREDIENTS: Melted fat or oil, 1 egg, 1½ teaspoons salt, 6 bananas, ¾ cup fine corn flake crumbs, bread or cracker crumbs, or corn meal.

METHOD: For shallow frying have 1 inch of melted fat or oil in frying pan. For deep-fat frying have deep kettle ⅓ to ½ full of melted fat or oil. Heat fat to 375° F. (or until a 1-inch cube of bread will brown in 40 seconds). Beat egg and add salt. Slice peeled bananas crosswise into 1-inch thick pieces. Dip into salted beaten egg and roll in crumbs or corn meal. Shallow fry or deep-fat fry in the hot fat 1½ to 2 minutes or until brown and tender. Drain on unglazed paper. Serve very hot. Six servings.

BELOW: AT THE CITY DESK ace reporter Charles Drury also samples the new taste sensation, Banana Scallops, offered by Miss Louise Leonard. (Recipe above.)

RUSSIAN ART. John Talko of the Russian Bear Restaurant beams as Mme. Natalie Mamedova pronounces his latest creation, Banana Torte, "fit for a Tsar." Talko, who once presided over the kitchen of the Grand Duke Alexander, used 25 eggs and dozens of bananas to make it!

TAMING THE AIR WAVES. Thomas E. Bean, NBC engineer, pauses in his important job of sending New England programs over the air waves, to sample the new food favorite, Banana Scallops. See that smile!

Perfect Bidding

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Just as good rhetoric involves a nice choice of words, so the language of bidding demands hair-splitting decisions on the road to the best final contract.

In many hands a player will have to choose from among three or four possibilities, each of them fairly persuasive.

The process of elimination is the only correct course in such cases.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

North: ♠ J 7 ♥ A K 10 5 4 ♦ A K 8 5 ♣ Q 7
West: ♠ A Q 8 5 3 2 ♥ [illegible] 8 ♦ [illegible] 3 2 ♣ [illegible] 9

MELLON GIFT INDORSED

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress in a [illegible] message today to provide government acceptance of the magnificent art collection of Andrew W. Mellon.

[illegible]

"I commend to the consideration of the Congress," the President said, in the message, "the matter of enacting appropriate legislation to effect the acceptance by the United States of the magnificent gift referred to in my recent exchange of letters with Mr. Andrew W. Mellon.

"The conditions under which the gift is tendered are set out in the correspondence, copies of which are transmitted herewith.

Keen Appreciation

"The works of art thus offered to the government constitute one of the finest and most valuable collections in existence, containing only objects of the highest standard of quality.

"It is with a keen sense of appreciation of the generous purpose of the donor and the satisfaction that comes with the knowledge that such a splendid collection will be placed at the seat of our government for the benefit and enjoyment of our people during all the years to come that I submit this matter to the Congress.

"The attorney general and the trustees of the Smithsonian Institution have conferred with representatives of the donor and will be glad to discuss the necessary legislation with the appropriate committee."

I OWE MY MANY [illegible] READERS [illegible] With the deepest mortification [illegible] my last week's opus in which I [illegible] pugilists as men whose cultivated brains are [illegible] in the [illegible] So I [illegible] words [illegible] Friday night at the Madison Square Garden's [illegible] an ex[illegible] named Bob Pastor [illegible] demonstrated the [illegible]

Pastor is the [illegible] who have faced Louis to think [illegible] credit to his [illegible] Because [illegible] pathetic pro[illegible] of [illegible] has not [illegible] to McGuffey's [illegible] headlong into Louis' [illegible] muzzling the [illegible] their skulls. There was not one [illegible] the sequence —the [illegible] night [illegible] Max [illegible] sledged down Louis and [illegible] in the relaxed posture of a beach [illegible] layer of sun tan and dreaming the happy summer hours away.

PASTOR SIZED UP SITUATION

FIGHT AUTHORS BLOW COLD AGAIN

*CONTRARY TO MY TRUE OPINION I AM willing to concede indeed that Louis has been a bum all along and billed over on [illegible] ruined hatchets, circus oddities and antique [illegible] But [illegible] reason teaches me that he was a bum [illegible] this and then the fight authors were hanging [illegible] around his neck by calling him the [illegible] the [illegible] hitter and the tatty terror. The time [illegible] a bum is when he is still flushed from triumph and not to delay these scholarly critiques until his utter failure to catch a back-peddaling business [illegible] count. The increased interest in the Boston Bees, we noted in our New England travels, was a refreshing surprise. 30-HOUR WEEK

Boston BANK STUDIES Effects

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW

Renewed agitation to arbitrarily impose the 30-hour week on industry is the subject of a study in the current New England Letter published by the First National Bank of Boston.

After noting the objectives of such a plan the letter concludes they can only be reached through the course of time and improved operating methods and more efficient machinery.

If a different course is followed and the government reaches the objective of the 30-hour week by decree then the bank sees industry disrupted and the living standards of the working mass lowered. The crux of the whole argument is that the volume of goods produced and services rendered constitute our national income. And the only way to increase the standard of living is through a larger volume of goods at prices that are within the range of a greater number of people.

* * *

The important thing to remember in studying such proposals is that an arbitrary reduction in working hours means an arbitrary reduction in working hours means an arbitrary reduction in the volume of goods to be distributed. It does not stand to reason that work would be spread out and the aggregate purchasing power increased. The first effect would be a jump in costs which would not be offset until the actual ability of industry to produce goods improved. As the New England letter points out history supplies proof of this fact. From 1900 to 1929 working hours of industry were reduced from 57 to 50 hours while real per capita income was increased by 40 per cent, or approximately the same as the increased productivity per worker.

* * *

Notebook: General Cable's earnings for October-November are placed at 31 cents per share of class "A" stock, after allowing for preferred dividends . . . Of utility companies in the principal cities in the fifteen areas Columbia Gas serves 9 per cent of the population, American Gas & Electric 7 per cent and Standard Gas 5 per cent . . . The budget set up for Certain-Teed this year is said to suggest company officials expect common stock earnings of about $1.25 per share . . . At the same time we may as well pass on the rumor of a possible merger with Celotex.

* * *

The stock market continues to be a specialty affair with the averages favoring the [illegible]. Since it is just about impossible to attempt to catch individual swings in the restricted space available to us we must confine ourselves to interpretation of unit moves. The three major averages are not giving a bullish performance. In fact, all three intimate that there is a lack of unity among buyers that may be attributed to a growing belief prices have been over-exploited in many directions. We cannot as a result of this take anything other than the conservative position outlined.

* * *

Ticker Ticks: U. S. Steel is headed for a spot just under 100, according to the chartists . . . Who also point out that Bethlehem seems somewhat behind the market . . . Consequently they are advising a switch . . . International Telephone should show around 75 cents a share for last year . . . And budget estimates indicates the management expects something in the vicinity of $1.25 per share this year . . . Cooper Bessemer will earn $2.50 per share this year if estimates coming to our desk are right . . . Bullishness on St. Regis Paper is traced in part to investment holding of the company . . . After deducting these from current market value buyers have a speculation in the paper industry for just a fraction over $7.50 per share.

STOCKS Turn MIXED

TRADING PACE SLOWER

New York, Feb. 1 (AP) Rubbers, coppers and specialties received a substantial upward shove in today's stock market.

Many issues, however, were indifferent, and there were a few soft spots in aviations. Trading turned somewhat slow after a fast first hour and, near the fourth period, trends were a bit uneven.

General Motors was lower more than a point as the company went to court to press its eviction plea against sitdown strikers. Chrysler and Nash-Kelvinator improved moderately.

Bonds held their own as did the majority of commodities.

Shares of Allied Chemical, J. I. Case and Lima Locomotive pushed up 2 to 5 points each. Lesser improvement was shown by Goodyear, Goodrich, Firestone, Anaconda, Kennecott, Inspiration, Miami, Cerro De Pasco, Standard Oil of N. J., Union Oil of California, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Safeway Stores, National Biscuit, American Can, Westinghouse, American Locomotive, Gulf States Steel, National Steel, General Electric, Union Carbide, Pressed Steel Car, [illegible] Bros., Container Corp., Loose-Wiles Biscuit, Crown Zellerbach, Pittsburgh Screw & Bolt and Pittsburgh United.

Backward were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Paramount, Santa Fe and Baltimore & Ohio. The utilities held to a restricted groove.

Stocks of Warren Bros. suffered a sharp setback when the company filed a voluntary plea for reorganization under the Federal Bankruptcy act.

Mixed Topics

On the cheerful side was the survey of the magazine "Steel" which pointed out floods and strikes have had relatively little effect on the industry's production schedules.

Heavy backlogs of unfilled orders at the start of the year, it was said, have not been reduced by large shipments through January, [illegible] new buying being sufficient to offset efforts to reduce back tonnage.

In addition, the American Iron & Steel Institute estimated steel makers this year will spend more than $200,000,000 for new construction and equipment. The total would be about 45 per cent ahead of such expenditures in 1936.

At the beginning of foreign exchange transactions the French franc was up 1-16 of a cent at 4.66 cents, and sterling was ⅛ of a cent lower at $4.90⅞.

CIGARETTES Hit New Peak

Production of small cigarettes in United States in 1936 amounted to 152,166,538,[illegible], against 134,807,741,254 in 1935, a gain of 13 per cent and setting a new high record, bureau of internal revenue reports.

December output was 11,245,558,041, against 11,957,119,[illegible] for November and 9,543,855,[illegible] for December, 1935.

The 1936 output of large cigars was [illegible], against 4,702,[illegible],947 in 1935 while December output of large cigars was 371,231,[illegible], against [illegible] in December, 1935.

Bar Silver

London, Feb. 1 (AP)—Bar silver easier 1-16 lower at 20 1-16d. (Sterling price equivalent to 44.48 cents.)

Comments of Brokers

While there are numerous reasons for thinking that it is becoming more difficult to select speculative issues successfully there is little reason to doubt that the attractive opportunities will be on the upside.—G. M.-P. Murphy & Co.

As long as such markets continue to exist, we still believe that the most conservative policy to follow at this time is one of waiting.—[illegible] Grant, Hornblower & Weeks.

Would continue to view the market as a day-to-day proposition in view of the prolonging of the motor strike and importance of developments in that situation. On the whole, the market still sees fit to assume an early and favorable settlement of the controversy.—H. D. Comer, Paine, Webber & Co.

In the absence of any development causing withdrawal of important foreign funds there appears nothing in prospect likely to change the main trend of the stock market.—J. P. Maher, Shields & Co.

It is gratifying to note that retail trade, save in flood and strike affected areas, is again gathering forward momentum.—J. S. Bache & Co.

Lynn Shoe Strike Averted; Reach Agreement

Lynn, Mass., Feb. 1 (AP)—Peace settled over Lynn's troubled shoe factories today, where only last week a wage agreement dispute threatened to precipitate a strike in six eastern Massachusetts communities.

Only the formality of putting into writing an agreement already reached remained before final solution of the dispute.

President Edward M. Winslow of the Benz Shoe Company said the firm would reopen its Market street plant later this week if the agreement were affirmed in writing.

Officers of the Lynn local of the National Leather Workers' Union said they and the Benz company had agreed on a two-year pact covering wages and working conditions. The firm had sought a five-year agreement, the union a one-year contract. The Benz company had threatened to keep its Market street plant closed unless the union agreed to its terms.

Copper Range Earnings Gain

In line with the experience of the mining industry, Copper Range Co. enjoyed an increase in earnings in 1936, net for the year being estimated at approximately $305,000, equal to 55 cents a share on 550,000 shares of stock, compared with $54,164 in 1935 equal to 10 cents a share. Earnings as noted are after depreciation, but before depletion.

During most of the year C. G. Hussey & Co., the fabricating subsidiary, was 90 per cent owned, but at the year-end Copper Range acquired full ownership of the Hussey company, issuing 15,000 of its own shares for the minority interest and increasing its capitalization from 550,000 to 565,000 shares.

The fabricating company contributed substantially to the total increase in profits. No income from Copper District Power Co. or from Copper Range Railroad Co. is included in the above estimate of earnings.

Production gained moderately, or from 16,759,889 pounds in 1935 to 17,486,000 pounds in 1936. Average sales price advanced from 8.60 cents to 9.59 cents a pound and average cost from 8.26 cents to 8.87 cents.

Skelly's 1936 Profit Best Since '29

Skelly Oil Company last year had its best profit period since 1929. It is probable net income in 1936 topped $4,400,000, equal to slightly in excess of $4 a share on the common. That would make a gain of about 70 per cent over earnings for 1935.

Sharp improvement in last year's operating results was chiefly due to larger sales and better average prices for products and in a small measure to refinancing undertaken early in the year, whereby fixed charges were reduced.

Income from sources other than operations in 1936 to September 30 also contributed to the better net profit showing, amounting to $734,957, against $579,341 in 1935.

The arrearages on the preferred were cleared at the end of 1936, and with a continuance of satisfactory operating conditions the way is paved for resumption of dividends on the common stock.

Revival IN MID-WEST Marked

By B. C. FORBES

In the Middle-West I have been visiting cities, industrial plants, business offices I hadn't visited for at least two years, and the contrast is most marked, materially and mentally.

Whereas depression and despondency prevailed then, activity and optimism are radiated today.

In practically every line working forces have been and are being substantially increased.

Improvement is very noticeable in such durable and semi-durable and heavy goods industries as steel, office appliances, coal, rubber, cement, various building materials, heavy industrial chemicals, oil, heavy electric machinery, glass, machine tools, packing, rayon, paint and varnish, Great Lakes shipping and shipbuilding, automobile and truck and trailer building, railway locomotive and car building.

Increased Sales

Although consumer goods and retail trade slumped much less, recovery here is also notable. Almost every large merchant reports encouraging results in volume of sales, although net profits have not always improved correspondingly.

One hears a lot about reviving demand for merchandise on instalment terms. In certain lines fears are expressed by responsible executives that too generous arrangements are being offered, especially for goods of non-permanent classification.

Travel has picked up remarkably. One is impressed by the number of buses plying here, there, everywhere.

My own observation, however, is that not half of them are half filled, creating doubt as to the ultimate profitableness of the operations of many smaller companies.

Hotels Prosper

Although the hotel industry, as a whole, is still far from yielding satisfactory financial fruits, patronage has increased very materially. One sign of the times is that, as a rule, the better class hotels are doing best.

Rightly or wrongly, forward-looking hotel men in our largest cities predict that more and more well-to-do families will resort to living in hotels in order to avoid the servant problem and to make it easier to shut up house for travel abroad, for summer and winter vacations in the country.

The tax burdens fastened on home-owners also constitute, it is pointed out, another reason for the drift towards apartment-hotel life.

What are people talking mostly about these days?

At the moment, of course, the floods are exciting grave concern. The dislocation caused is having widespread effects. But it is recognized that this will prove very temporary.

The name most often heard in conversation today is not President Roosevelt's. It is that of John L. Lewis. Not far behind are Secretary of Labor Perkins and President Sloan, of General Motors.

High and low appear to be following events with tremendous interest. Apparently all classes realize that momentous issues are at stake. Naturally, opinions are sharply divided as to how the question of labor versus property rights should be settled.

Great Interest

The one phase most animatedly discussed is the occupation of plants by sit-down strikers.

So far as I can judge, the feeling is very strong and very widespread that some method must be found of removing this new deterrent to recovery in business and employment.

The people don't want anything to bedevil the improvement they are enjoying in their economic conditions. The desire for better times is almost universally voiced.

One associated with the financial world is quizzed at every turn about stock market, about security prospects.

My deduction is that there must have been very pronounced broadening of security buying during the last year. More than one waiter tackled me about one or more stocks, confiding that they owned small lots.

Pittsburgh is my next objective.

Tax Collections Up

Government internal revenue tax collections were up 16 per cent in the six months ended December 31, last, amounting to $1,864,400,781, against $1,597,273,101 in the like period the year before, Treasury announced.

Wall Street Hears

New York, Feb. 1 (INS) — That General Refractories (GRX) earnings last year were close to $3.50 a share, compared with $1.44 in 1935.

That approximately $1.75 a share was realized in 1936 by International Salt (ILS).

COMEDY Drama ON AIR

GARY COOPER IN STAR ROLE

By N. F. T.

Lots of lusty laughs went around and around when "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" flickered in the film theatres not long ago. More times as many than can be counted should duly result this evening (WEEI) when the microphone version goes coast to coasting as a "Radio Theater" highlight between 9 and 10 o'clock.

Star roles in the studio setting are wisely arranged for Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur to portray, quite as in the striking screen feature. It's an original comedy drama by Charles Buddington Kelland and adapted to the movies, it became the most talked of picture through the recently concluded year of 1936. Cecil B. De Mille will direct the air attraction.

SUNDAY SLANTS

Just one or two limited passages about the Sunday program impressions registered with these ears as of yesterday.

First, let it be said that Jack Benny was probably at his best.

His dream about meeting Fred Allen and having it out as one comedian to another, was top-flight comedy. His realistic yawning and being tired, "never an sleep since last Wednesday night between 9 and 10 o'clock," was subtle Allen-aimed satire of first quality.

Eddie Cantor then came along. He consumed at least 70 per cent, if not more, of his half-hour making known that it was his birthday. He kept repeating he wanted everyone to know it, and he certainly did achieve that purpose, if no other. It was also understood previous to the program that "Parkyakarkus" was to do his last bit with the banjo-eyed funster. It was but natural to expect there could have been some well wishing and at least a passing farewell gesture to the dialect demon who has helped the Cantor continuity an awful much. Not a mention was made of "Parkyakarkus" taking leave of the broadcast. This omission might well lend some measure of credence to rumors that the two haven't been hitting it off any too smoothly of late.

FORUM FIGURE

Since proposals are coming from all sides to limit the powers of United States courts to pass upon the constitutionality of acts of Congress, the "National Radio Forum" will present Senator William E. Borah of Idaho in a discussion of "The Judiciary" this evening (WBZ) from 9 to 9:30 p. m.

In the minds of many, the place the judiciary should occupy in the U. S. Government has become a paramount issue. Senator Borah is known as a staunch supporter of an independent judiciary.

* * *

With scores of the brightest stars of radio, stage and screen doing their turns the National Broadcasting Company will present a two-hour program tonight (WBZ) in behalf of the American Red Cross drive for funds to relieve human suffering in the flood-stricken areas of the Ohio Valley. All of which will come through from 10:00 p. m. to 12:00 midnight. The program will originate in New York, Hollywood, Chicago and Miami.

* * *

Bill Thompson, versatile young network comic and dialectician, will celebrate his first anniversary on the "Fibber McGee and Molly" program this evening when he will make his 52nd consecutive appearance on the broadcast (WNAC) at 8 o'clock.

Thompson made his debut on the series as "Nick, the Greek." This was so popular with the Fibber McGee and Molly audience that the role was continued for two months before Bill introduced a new character, that of Horatio K. Boomer, a windy four-flusher who always fools Fibber.

PROPER FLAG DISPLAY

D. A. R. Head Gives Instruction

Washington, Feb. 1 (US)—When in doubt about proper display of the American flag, ask any school student, Mrs. William Becker, president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, advises.

Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and junior American citizens of the D. A. R. most certainly know how to display "Old Glory" correctly," Mrs. Becker said, adding:

"At the recent inauguration of President Roosevelt there were few mistakes in the use of the Stars and Stripes.

"In February there are two national holidays when the flag will be displayed everywhere in our land, Lincoln's birthday anniversary and that of George Washington, father of our country.

"Moreover, the interval between February 12 and February 22 is dedicated to the national defense of our country and there will be widespread display of the flag.

"It is to be hoped care will be taken to display our national emblem correctly. Some incorrect use of the flag by well-meaning citizens actually approaches desecration.

"Ignorance and thoughtlessness is the cause. The flag is the emblem of our freedom, the banner of the greatest democracy on earth.

"It is now the third oldest of the national standards of the world. Every American should know the correct use of the flag."

From Mrs. Martin L. Sigmon, of Monticello, Arkansas, national chairman of the D. A. R. correct use of the flag committee, these rules were emphasized:

"Do not place any other flag or pennant above, or, if on the same level, to the right of the flag.

"Do not drape the flag over the hood, sides, top, or back of any vehicle, train or boat.

"Do not use the flag as drapery in any form whatever.

"Do not place any object or emblem on or above the flag.

"Do not use the flag as a portion of a costume. Do not print it upon paper napkins or boxes. Do not use it in any form of advertising."

Subpoena Power

Power to summons witnesses under oath and adjudge witnesses and those who refuse to answer summonses in contempt, has been given the Lynn School Board in connection with its investigation into alleged abuse of pupils of the Cobbet ungraded school in a ruling made by City Solicitor Patrick F. Shanahan.

The Family Album

The following are the identifications for The Family Album pictures offering on Page 9:

1—Boston socialites recently formed a Wine Tasting Society, but Sally Adams, post-debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Adams of Jamaica Plain and Cohasset, was evidently a few years ahead of them in her costume of a vineyard sprite. This photo was taken in 1927. 2—The Spanish senorita is Mrs. William Cox, the former Miss Jessie Bancroft, daughter of Mrs. Hugh Bancroft. The Castillian effect was achieved for a costume party nine years ago.

Senator Copeland Says:

Palestine Logical Jewish Refuge

By ROYAL S. COPELAND

Washington, Feb. 1 (US)—The catastrophic condition of the 3,000,000 Jews in Poland, the plight of the Jewish population in Germany, the rise of anti-Semitism in other countries of central and eastern Europe, have led to a world-wide search for a land of refuge for the persecuted Jewish people.

In recent months projects have been advanced and even negotiations conducted for the settlement of Jews in Ecuador, in Madagascar, in San Domingo, in Birobidjan (Far Eastern Siberia), and even in the Congo.

After my visit to the Holy Land last summer, I am convinced that Palestine presents the only practical immediate refuge for the homeless Jews.

HAS STOOD TEST

First, the Jewish homeland in Palestine has stood the test of experience, as shown by the Hearst Senatorial Commission of which I was a member.

Second, there are no unemployed in Palestine. At the moment, there is actually a shortage of labor.

Third, there is ample unoccupied and untilled land in Palestine.

Fourth, there is a world-wide Zionist organization equipped to extend financial and technical aid to the Jewish settlers in Palestine.

Fifth, Jewish people throughout the ages have remained loyal to Palestine as the home of their forefathers.

Sixth, the Jewish homeland in Palestine has an international status. It has been guaranteed by 52 nations. It has received the full endorsement of the United States through a solemn treaty between Great Britain and our government.

The mandate for Palestine entrusted to the British government envisaged the plight of millions of Jews in eastern Europe during the war and post-war periods.

What, then, is the matter with Palestine in the crisis of today? The reign of terror waged by a certain Arab element against the Jews is held by some to be sufficient reason for discarding Palestine as the Jewish homeland.

Our first-hand investigation has convinced us that the facts do not warrant such an assumption. The Arab banditry was tinged, it is true, with a certain element of political agitation.

But the fact is that the majority of the Arabs of Palestine was in itself terrorized by a band of Arab vandals. And the British administration gave aid and comfort to the bandits and the vandals.

The bloodshed in Palestine could without question have been avoided had the British authorities taken a firm hand from the beginning, and carried out their plain duty as assumed by them in their compacts with the Jews and the nations of the world.

The royal commission which has just completed its public enquiry into the causes of the Palestine riots has displayed the same spirit which characterizes recent British administration of Palestine. One of the members of the commission even dared to express the view that the Jews were an "alien" race in Palestine!

What trustee for the Jewish homeland, what representative of the declared British policy, can voice such patent prejudice and yet hold a royal commission for impartiality?

Indeed, what kind of a trusteeship did Great Britain assume in facilitating the settlement of Jews in Palestine, when in the hour of greatest need she would not even maintain law and order?

There is nothing the matter with Palestine as a homeland for the persecuted Jews. It has given the Arab people greater prosperity and greater opportunities than they have enjoyed for centuries in any part of Asia inhabited by them.

The matter with Palestine is really a question of British forthrightness.

It is a question of fulfilling or of shirking a duty undertaken voluntarily in the broad daylight.

When the voice of America speaks out unmistakably on this question, and speak it must, then the solution to the Jewish crisis will have been found.

Great Britain should open the gates of Palestine wide to the pent-up stream of Jewish refugees, in accord with economic conditions in the Holy Land, as determined by the official Jewish agency.

Give New England Mills Enduring Prosperity

THE NEW ENGLAND textile industry, raising wages, restoring jobs and re-opening idle mills, appears to be in a healthier condition today than at any time since the beginning of the depression.

But the textile industry, despite its recent gains, has a long way to go before it achieves a measure of PERMANENT prosperity consistent with our vast domestic consumption of cotton, worsteds and woolens.

The cause of this insecurity in an industry that should be America's most secure is known by everyone.

IT IS THE COMPETITION OF THE COOLIE-WAGED MILLS OF JAPAN AND THE SLAVE-LABOR FACTORIES OF OTHER LOW-STANDARD COUNTRIES.

LATEST to comment on this ruinous situation is Congressman Joseph W. Martin of North Attleboro, who has been aroused by the spectacle of leading American manufacturers going to Japan and urging their Nipponese rivals to curtail their exports to the United States.

"The American textile industry is completely at the mercy of our competitors, the Japanese," says Congressman Martin.

"We are told that the Japanese manufacturers recently agreed to restrict their cotton textile shipments to 165,000,000 yards this year.

"Do Americans know what that means?

"It means that the Japanese this year intend to send us MORE THAN TWICE as much cloth as they sent us last year."

What Congressman Martin does not say, but what we all know is that every yard of cloth bought in the United States from Japan is a yard of cloth that an American workman will never be paid for making.

And the 165,000,000 yards that the Japanese tell us they plan to dump into our markets is a polite way of promising thousands of our own people lost jobs and empty pockets.

SURELY the time has come for action, and, as Congressman Martin says, for "ADEQUATE tariffs that will enable Americans to live in America as Americans."

When every textile worker in New England and throughout the country is employed at wages befitting his standard of living, it will be time to open our doors to the coolie production of the Orient.

That time has not come, and it will not for many years.

But until it does come, let us have ENDURING TEXTILE PROSPERITY THROUGH TARIFFS SUFFICIENTLY HIGH TO RESTORE UNITED STATES MARKETS TO UNITED STATES CITIZENS.

Pity the Poor Motorist

IF taxes were bricks hardly an automobile would be able to move under its own power.

With Federal taxes, State taxes, municipal taxes and at least a score of assorted levies saddled onto all its parts—from tires to steering wheel—the poor car would surely crumble and fall to pieces.

Yet, in deliberate refusal to recognize this tax burden that travels with every automobile, Massachusetts now considers a plan to take $7,300,000 of the motorists' gasoline tax money and use the millions FOR ANY PURPOSE THE LEGISLATURE DEEMS BEST.

The excuse is that the gasoline revenue has been so great that all the highway needs can be taken care of with $7,300,000 to spare.

Of course, the desire to spend this money for purposes other than roads is not new. For years various legislators have cast hungry eyes upon it.

BUT CERTAINLY THE DAY HAS ARRIVED TO CONSIDER THE MOTORIST AND HIS ROLE IN THE TAX SETUP.

And probably there would never be a better time to give attention to the pending petition for an amendment to the State Constitution requiring gasoline tax revenue to be used ENTIRELY on highway construction and improvement.

The motorist deserves as much consideration as any other taxpayer. If the money he pays exceeds the State's highway requirements, his tax bill SHOULD BE REDUCED.

Harvard Will Not Fail

HARVARD'S proposed "School of Politics," made possible by a recent $2,000,000 gift, is a STEP FORWARD in education.

Carefully trained, imbued with the philosophy that a public office is a public trust, the school's graduates should, in the years to come, render valuable service to their cities, states and nation.

That Harvard does not intend to launch its experiment without adequate preparation is shown by the care with which courses are being organized. This is wise.

Actually, the school is going to "rehearse" for a full year. And then, if all goes well, students will be admitted.

A school so founded must succeed. Harvard will not fail.

We Owe Them Much

PATROLMAN DANIEL DONAHUE, member of the Boston police mission to the Louisville, Ky., flood area, suddenly stricken, is rushed home by plane.

Here, dramatically shown, is proof of the heroism of these Boston officers who willingly left their safe city and comfortable homes to fight disease and death in the ravaged South.

Patrolman Donahue and his brother officers who so risked their lives in a crisis in which the whole nation was concerned deserve more than simple gratitude.

They should be remembered when promotions and re-assignments are made.

What About These Public Enemies?

By Nelson Harding

These two menaces that face us,
Public enemies inflicting
Damage beyond computation
Have not been controlled or mastered.
Death, disease and widespread ruin,
Wrought by these grim visitations,
Must in future be prevented
By real Governmental planning.

"Man's Best Friend"

The Human Side of the News

By Edwin C. Hill

It was Maurice Maeterlinck who wrote: "In this world it is man alone against every living thing. Or shall we make exception of the dog, who worships man as his god?"

Edwin C. Hill

We must admit that Belgium's poet-philosopher is a bit prejudiced in favor of dogs. At least no champion of the cat will accept his verdict, because Maeterlinck is said to be a hater of the feline.

A dog lover myself, I side with Maeterlinck. Others have thought that Senator Vest, in his famous address to a jury in defense of the dog, overdid things and waxed a little poetic, if not maudlin, in his ending, when he said:

"And when the last scene of all comes and death takes the master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but opened, in alert watchfulness, faithful and true in death."

Within the month we have had not one, but two instances of this devotion beyond the grave. There was Shep, a collie pup in 1924 when his master, Francis McMahon, was taken to a hospital in Rock Island, Ill. Shep followed the stretcher and set himself down to wait by an elevator door. And he waited for more than 12 years.

A LIFELONG VIGIL

His master died the day after entering the hospital. Shep would not leave and resisted all attempts to move him. At length, the hospital folk made friends with him, but throughout the years he spent most of his time by the elevator door until his own end came.

In Sarasota, Florida, an elderly woman lived alone in a one-room cabin, alone save for a dog. She died suddenly and the dog stood guard until killed by the police.

There has been considerable criticism and justly so, over the recent "de-barking" of a dog in Buffalo. The animal, a Doberman-Pinscher, annoyed the neighbors by his yelpings in the night. Facing a heavy fine, the animal's owner agreed to an operation by which the dog's vocal chords were snipped. Albert Payson Terhune, known for his stories about dogs and his training of them, was one who took exception to such punishment, saying:

"I have ten dogs here on my estate and if one of them barks I know he has every good reason for making noises. I taught them to be good canine citizens when they were puppies. If they barked unnecessarily, then I would come down and simply talk to them. They understood."

The United States is perhaps the greatest dog country in the world, notwithstanding the claims for England. This is particularly true about registered thoroughbreds. For 1936, a record number, 84,475 of these blue-bloods had their names added to the social register of dogdom.

All told, there are in the United States 650,000 pure-bred dogs, and undoubtedly 10 times that number which have never known a stud book.

These pedigreed dogs alone, are worth $50,000,000 and about twice that sum must be spent yearly because they must eat, be groomed and be doctored. A dog isn't fickle, whether he be mongrel or blue-ribbon winner. But the public is fickle in the matter of breed, which, in the matter of popularity, come and go like women's fashions.

SPANIEL HOLDS SWAY

Within the past decade or so we have noticed the Airedale, the German shepherd and the wire-haired fox terrier holding the spotlight in turn as the dog of the day. At the present time, the cocker spaniel basks in the spotlight as the most popular breed. Well, he deserves it, for he is a fine sturdy fellow, gentle, wise and companionable.

Some of the breeds which are commonplace in our streets today have romantic histories, the Pekingese for instance. This dog, small but with the heart of a lion, was unknown to Europeans 75 years ago. It was the special pet of the Manchu emperors and was brought from China by British officers in the 60's.

Don't be surprised if the streets of your city are filled within the next four years by a long-haired dog which has the face of a baboon. This is the Afghan hound, a favorite of the Arabs and the Persians. It is finding great favor in London today, having been introduced there by British officers from the World War.

Isn't It So?

No woman ever learns how trivial and insignificant her husband's Big Business Troubles are until he gets a toothache.

A woman's power over a man is something she never loses—until she tries to USE it.

A man's idea of "rejuvenation" seldom consists in cultivating a lot of new enthusiasms—but in reviving a lot of his old follies.

That's That

By Bruce Gustin

Disasters such as floods, fires, earthquakes and the like test human courage and self-reliance to the limit. It is in such emergencies that the American people appear to best advantage. No matter how hopeless the task confronting them may seem, they tackle it with confidence and determination.

There is no more discouraging job than that of cleaning up a city after it has been inundated by a flood. It seems to be such a hopeless undertaking. An outsider thinks the residents of that city might better abandon it and build an entirely new city rather than attempt to clean out the mud, the debris and the dead animals left by the receding floodwaters. No one who has not been through a similar experience can have any conception of the enormity of the job confronting the residents of flooded cities as they set out to clean out, repair and make livable and usable the homes, stores and other buildings from which they were driven by the flood.

There is quite a difference between the way people meet a national disaster, such as a flood, and an economic disaster such as the recent depression. In one case, they encounter physical obstacles with which they know how to deal. In the other, they meet invisible forces with which they individually cannot cope. The man who finds his home full of mud knows what to do and how to do it. He cleans out the mud. But when his means of livelihood vanish in a depression and there is nothing he can do to restore his job or find another, his helplessness overwhelms him.

Senator Lewis of Illinois has made a sound and feasible suggestion about war debt settlement. Let England make part payment with warships. Let France contribute some submarines. Let Italy pay part of her debt with airplanes. These nations say they have no money with which to make even token payments on the debts due the United States. But they are able to find billions of dollars with which to increase their armaments. Warships, submarines and airplanes, as debt payments, would be as useful to us as cash.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

New York, Feb. 1—Diary: Pirooting in a closet I came across a russet-brown greatcoat, of which I had no memory soever. So donning it and off to the boulevards and saw two singers in a block, Lawrence Tibbett and John McCormack. And had a snack at the Grand Central oyster bar.

Home and approached the household about acquiring another dog, a Boston puppy, and all in high agreement. And we set off for some kennels in Jersey but found none available. And returned by the Lindbergh kidnap site, one of the saddest estates I think in the land.

Then to the Brock Pembertons and afterward to dine at the starry El Morocco. But a heavy lidded satyr of questionable years and a chirpy lass in her teens next table kept my mind off the food, albeit I did handsomely by a platter of white bait.

Dwight Fiske has been added to the urbane list of Gentlemen Who belong in the sophisticated New York scene. A wide-shouldered, tall, slightly bald figure at first nights and a target for mention by name in one of the Noel Coward skits—a super glory in the eyes of the glib gabbers. He is the deliverer of slightly ribald talk-songs with his own piano accompaniments. A tie-twitching fellow indeed girted to full evening dress, attracting autograph hunters as flies to molasses. And filling neatly the snack-bar crowd's idea of worldliness.

Analytical: An observer sends in his opinion the gesture most characteristically feminine is that of a lady sweeping up a silken dress train in her hand for a waltz or for the descent graceful down the stairway into a brilliantly lit ballroom. The gesture most characteristically masculine: Tamping tobacco into a briar or meerschaum with the usual surety and right degree of abstraction, carrying on a benign discussion meanwhile.

Sudden thought: Dance music comes and goes, but for my money Guy Lombardo's twinkle-toed tunes remain the danciest.

There was a back yonder tingle in a window card in one of those tacky drink and sandwich stands along a reach of 10th avenue. It announced: Mulled Grape Shrub. I became a customer and found it a heart warming beverage as simple as its Victorian sounding name and fraught with the spiciness of cinnamon sticks. I would have enjoyed having the late Chic Sale and Homer Croy along.

The Murray Hill is about the only hotel to retain an expansive billiard room—once a prime feature of metropolitan inn-keeping. About its many tables after dinner gather mostly the silver-haired exponents of the game in dinner coats with their wives occupying high chairs on the side lines.

The old Fifth avenue hotel was also noted for its enormous billiard room as well as its Amen Corner. The modern hotel often has a billiard room, but with only one or two tables, and the game is accessible only upon application to the management by bona fide guests.

Billiard rooms, it would seem, have a way of sometimes attracting undesirables. There are vary few mansions, however, without a billiard table. In the privacy of the home it remains one of the aristocratic pastimes.

Another addition to the Connecticut colony is the financier, Matt Brush. He will live on an enormous estate with an expansive, seven-acre sweep of water front. Low taxes are bringing thousands to the Nutmeg state. Real estate is booming.

Bagatelles: Paul Whiteman suffers a phobia he will swoon facing a large audience . . . But with the first wave of the baton is as calm as anything . . . Noel Coward's mother conducted a boarding house during his formative years, which kindled his flair for the portrayal of types . . . Amon Carter maintains a large Texas turkey farm solely to send his friends the live birds Christmas holiday seasons . . . Robert Sherwood had two hit shows on Broadway this season, one an adaptation from the French . . . Michael Arlen once had three hits in succession in one season . . . Premier Blum of France likes to read romantic tales of the western cowboys . . . P. G. Wodehouse chuckles as much writing his stories as his readers.

Nature's Publicity Man

BLACK TEDDY
He's Nature's "Ad"

THE big, shaggy, ferocious looking beast you see in the picture didn't come from an African or South American jungle.

He's a New Englander and he lives in Maine, though just now he's visiting Boston, "starring" in the Sportsmen's Show.

You'll probably prefer to meet "Teddy" in his temporary big city setting, believing such an encounter safer than coming upon him suddenly in his native woods.

But, nonetheless, it's good to know that New England's wild life still survives, that, even though our villages are quaint and beautiful, our forests and streams abound with bird and beast as nowhere else in the world.

That is the purpose of "Teddy's" visit to Boston. He tells us we don't have to go to India, Congo or inland Brazil to see Nature in her untamed splendor. We can see her in our Berkshires, in our White Mountains, in Maine, in Vermont, almost anywhere a few miles from cities.

The Sportsmen's Show is Nature's "publicity man." And "Black Teddy" a forceful "ad." See him at close range here. See him later in the forest—at a distance.

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

Who's to blame if youth is speed crazy . . . money mad . . . spends every night at a movie or a public dance hall . . . is restless, unhappy, impudent in the home?

Elsie Robinson

Who's responsible if the police blotters are filled with the names of youngsters under 20 . . . if we have girl "gun molls" and boy "killers" . . . if youth, in general, seems to defy every old-fashioned, decent American standard?

"You oldsters!" cries Jim McLaughlin. "You are the ones who started it all, for you own profit and pleasure!"

A terrific indictment! Is Jim right—or wrong? We'd like the OVER THIRTIES to answer that . . . IF THEY CAN! Whether you're for or against his ideas, it's a great latter. Two Jims and a Patricia split this week's laurels among them, each one with an outstanding letter.

BLAMES ELDERS

"DEAR MISS ROBINSON:

"What's wrong with the young generation? I can answer in THREE words: THE OLDER GENERATION. If modern youth is wild, reckless and money mad, their elders are to blame.

"It was those elders who turned away from the old scheme of things and ushered in an era of EASY MONEY AND FAT LIVING. It was they who voted out liquor, then opened up speakeasies to sell us 'rot-gut' while we were still school kids . . . who have given us fast automobiles, movies, dance halls.

"The older generation gave their children loaded revolvers—then turned them loose and wondered what would happen!

"Before we were born, our parents went money crazy. They ditched the old clean ideals of America. This generation has been brought up on sensational exposures of political crookedness . . . on mass gang killings . . . and every other manifestation of ruthless materialism. Then they said that we are calloused, blase, restless, indifferent to the old standards.

"The greatest problem youth has today is the older generation. They have made this world the rotten place it is and they still show no sign of reforming.

"JAMES F. McLAUGHLIN,
"Chicago."

WORRY UNNECESSARY

"Formula for Youth"—that's what James E. Garrahan, writer of the other prize letter, calls his lusty challenge to his own generation. Here's the grand old Yankee spirit at is huskiest. When a boy of 20 can write this, we needn't worry yet about America's future.

"DEAR MISS ROBINSON:

"With all these mournful discussions going on, too many of us are really beginning to believe that we are "The Lost Generation."

"Don't fool yourselves, boys and girls. We're no worse off than Mom and Pop were when they started out. But if you are going to sit down and cry over yourselves, you really will be lost—to Industry—to the World—to yourself.

"What are you waiting for—some one to come along and throw a fortune into your lap? IF YOU WANT A JOB GO OUT AND GET IT! It isn't so easy—this landing a job. You don't have to tell me—I know it already. But hunt and hunt if it kills you—and it won't.

"In the so-called 'good old days' (there really were no such things!) men and women didn't sit around analyzing their failure—saying they were licked or lost. They went after what they wanted, and usually got it.

"The great thing is—MAKE YOUR START. Don't expect the impossible at first. Too many of us won't accept anything unless it's tops. We feel that anything but the best is beneath us. That's hooey. TAKE WHAT YOU CAN GET, AND BUILD WITH WHAT YOU'VE GOT . . . AND KEEP IT UP! There's your formula for 1937, Young People of America!

"JAMES E. GARRAHAN,
"Brooklyn, N. Y."

HOPE FOR YOUTH

And maybe you're one of the thousands who believe that "this generation have lost all spiritual values"? Then in this prize letter you'll find something which should make you retire with a red face—but a singing heart.

"DEAR ELSIE ROBINSON:

"Once, in an analytical mood, I asked myself—as 24-year-olds so often do—what I wanted most of life. 'Success—money!' was my immediate reaction. Then I thought of all those who have these things and are not happy, and it came to me that the GREAT THING IN LIFE IS TO LEARN THE ART OF LIVING—TO BECOME REALLY 'MASTER OF MY SOUL.'

"Achievement is great, but it is greater to be so strong that disappointment cannot embitter me or shake my faith in God and man. Instead of resenting troubles, I want to learn to be thankful for them, because to overcome them I must fight, and fighting develops character and real understanding.

"I know these things have often been written before, but when one discovers them for himself they seem entirely new.

"INVESTMENT IN CHARACTER CAN NEVER BE LOST. The noble qualities you have fought for become part of you, and so they can never be taken away. They are the only things you are sure of.

"And above all, to find that connecting link between God and man—that gives life meaning. Without the feeling of that link, life cannot be complete.

"These are the things I want in life. If I live to the best of my ability, I may not have an easy or happy life, but I know I'll have a soul-satisfying one.

"PATRICIA GLYNN,
"Los Angeles, Cal."

Keep that creed, little sister, and wherever you live will be "Hope Street!"

Amateurs in Radio -:- -:- By Charles S. Ryckman

Amateur radio operators, toward whom the feelings of radio listeners are not always kindly, have proved their worth in the current flood emergency.

Augmenting disrupted communications, the experimental facilities of amateurs have bridged many desperate gaps.

Contact between the stricken districts and the outside world, direction of relief agencies and relaying appeals from the centers of greatest distress are among the valuable services rendered.

It is interesting to know that the 53,480 licensed radio stations in the United States, 46,850 are of the amateur variety, largely in the short wave field where the "nuisance element" is minimized.

Radio as we know it today was built in considerable degree upon the energetic investigations of amateurs, who had a million home-made receiving sets in operation before the commercial possibilities of the industry became apparent.

Amateur experimentation developed many of the basic principles of radio. In all probability, many of the secrets of future radio methods, including those of television, will be solved at the same source.

The fact that exploration of the field of television is being undertaken by leading radio interests, with vast resources of scientific research fully utilized, does not close the door to the amateur.

Frank A. Arnold, writing in Editor and Publisher, enlarges upon this interesting prospect:

"It has been suggested that if space could be provided on the present radio spectrum to permit their entry, it might be well to invite the amateurs into this (television) field, with the expectation that this energetic group of investigators would be of the same service to televison that they were in the development of broadcasting.

"Who knows but what the ultimate answer to some of the problems now confronting television may come from the same source?"

The flare of young America for playing with the fascinating mysteries of science is unquestionably responsible for many new things and new ideas upon which vast benefits to the nation and the world are ultimately established.

The resourcefulness of youth is an asset to be encouraged by a nation well aware that its great engineers, scientists and teachers of the future are among the army of young people digging diligently among facts and theories still puzzling to more mature minds.

Bible Text: "I rejoiced greatly that I have found certain of thy children walking in truth."—John II.
